Queen Pauses

On a tour of bombed areas in London with King George, Queen Elizabeth came across this black cat near an air raid shelter . . . and throwing superstition to the winds, pauses to pet the feline. Angle of the cat's tail suggests she is purring her appreciation . . . but maybe what she's really pleased about is her possession of nine lives in a spot where today every one of them is needed.

LONDON GUINS ROUT RAIDERS

LONDON, Sept. 25 (AP)—German planes roared over central London today, into a furnace of anti-aircraft fire, and were reported driven off while terrific explosions across the English channel signaled a daylight renewal of British night raids on the German-held "invasion" coast.

WAR DUTY AHEAD—Preparing to take his ship to sea on a commerce-raiding expedition, a U-boat commander receives the good wishes of his German comrades. British claim that Germany has lost over half its underwater fleet since the war's start.

British Rain Bombs On Berlin 3 Hours

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—British planes dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs in and around Berlin early this morning in their third successive night raid on the German capital, keeping the city's 4,000,000 residents in underground shelters for two hours and 48 minutes.

Authorities said there were "several" civilian casualties and again declared, as they have after previous British air attacks, that damage was slight and confined largely to homes.

They reported a number of incendiary bombs fell on a hospital "but because of the energetic action of security services, there was no damage."

Informed sources said only a few were hurt and no fatalities had been reported. Most of those injured were in dwellings in the northern part of the city.

WHISTLE OF BOMBS

Most of the British bombs fell in the outskirts of Berlin, these authorities said. Outlying defense batteries caused most of the raiders to swerve away from the city, they declared, in some instances jettisoning their bomb loads in open fields.

Neutral observers, who said the raid lacked the intensity of other bombardments of Berlin, reported they could see no fires in any part of the city.

They said fewer planes apparently crossed the center of the capital than in other attacks and defense fire seemed less intense but the whistle of bombs clearly was audible above the roar of anti-aircraft guns.

Japs Halt Drive In Indo-China

HANOI, Indo-China, Sept. 25 (AP)—The military situation along a 50-mile frontier section 80 miles northwest of Hanoi was obscured today after Japanese advance forces cut communications between the Indo-Chinese capital and Langson, center of the northern border defense line.

Informed sources said the Tokyo government had ordered Gen. Teizō Ando, commanding Japan's South China army, to halt the attack commenced Sept. 22.

The Indo-China government issued a statement reaffirming its willingness to carry out the Vichy-Tokyo pact and the more detailed agreement reached Sept. 22 with Japanese representatives.

The statement also reaffirmed Indo-China's determination to oppose with force all efforts of the Japanese South China army to push across the northern frontier of Indo-China in what the government said was "absolute violation" of the accord granting Japan limited military rights. The French insist they agreed to permit Japanese to enter only by the Port of Haiphong.

The heaviest of London's barrage fire seemed to come from a southwestern district.

Londoners went to shelters in mid-morning when the German bombers came back after a night attack that was central London's worst bombing of the war.

Anti-aircraft guns went into action against planes seen high over the city.

100 PLANES IN ATTACK

Shortly before noon nearly 100 invading planes appeared over the southwest English coast, splitting into three groups for their assaults. Alarms were sounded at several coastal towns.

A number of bombs fell in one town, one igniting up a roadway and cutting the water and electrical supply. Three bombs struck the beach, showering pebbles over a one-mile radius.

In spite of terrific anti-aircraft fire the raiders pressed on inland, where it was believed they were intercepted by British fighters.

In the air fights over a southwest England coastal area about 20 German bombers, apparently flying westward, were attacked by British fighters and ground batteries. A German plane fell in flames at Branksome. The pilot bailed out but was killed.

A Brighton correspondent reported that a Spitfire fighter chased a German bomber out to sea at noon and a little later returned, doing a "victory roll."

An Exchange Telegraph correspondent reported from England's southeast coast that explosions heard across the Strait of Dover seemed the heaviest of any of the British bombings along the German-held French coast.

SEA BECOMES CHOPPY

Dover reported that a wind sprang up today in the northeast—a bad direction for any crossing of the channel—and the sea became choppy shortly after dawn.

Massed waves of German bombers showered the heart of London with fire bombs and huge explosives during the night.

The fury of the concentrated attack came as a prelude finale to one of the fiercest raids the entire city had endured in 18 consecutive nights of death and damage.

The thunderous anti-aircraft barrage which guarded the central city from the full force of the earlier overnight assault failed to stem the sudden tide of bombers.

Dakar Surrender Is Now Reported

VICHY, Sept. 25 (AP)—Unconfirmed and conflicting reports that Dakar, capital of French West Africa, had surrendered to the "Free French" and British expedition circulated here today.

It could not be learned with certainty whether the city was still holding out or whether the expeditionary troops had gained a foothold on the African coastline, taking the "key to the south Atlantic."

No official news from Dakar had been announced since yesterday at 1 p. m. (8 a. m. Boston time), when the British were reported starting a violent raid.

A "large number" of French planes dropped 45 tons of bombs on the arsenal and south mole of Gibraltar in a two-hour raid yesterday, it was announced officially, confirming previous unofficial reports of the attack.

A large ship in port was hit directly and heavy clouds of smoke rose over the British naval base as the French planes left for home, the French admiralty reported.

Its communique declared the bombing was a direct reprisal for the British action against Dakar, capital of the French West African colony of Senegal.

Yesterday morning's bombardment alone, a communique said, killed 185 persons and wounded 363 others. Sixty-five casualties were included among the dead and 225 among the injured.

The 35,000-ton French battleship Richelieu, which has been laid up at Dakar, was reported hit by aerial bombs.

The Richelieu, pride of the French navy, was reported bombed and put out of commission by British planes which attacked her at Dakar last July 8 to prevent the vessel falling into German hands.—Editor's note.

Government circles said the British naval superiority was overwhelming, but expressed confidence the defenders of Dakar were amply to cope with any landing forces.

"FIGHT TO END"

Admirals Landreau and Lacroix, commanders of the French squadron at Dakar, cabled Vichy they were prepared to "fight to the end."

The British fleet renewed its bombardment of the port yesterday, the Petain government said, after Governor-General Pierre Boisson had rejected a second ultimatum demanding that he surrender Dakar.

"France has confided Dakar to me," Boisson was quoted as saying. For last minute reports call East Boston 2000.

Labor Will Support Draft Law To Limit, Green Tells Legion

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Before the second business session of the 22d annual American Legion convention today, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, pledged full support of his organization's 5,000,000 members to the draft law, although he opposed the conscription bill before passage.

"Now that the selective service bill is the law of the land," Green told the Legion delegates in Symphony Hall, "I wish to announce here and now that the American Federation of Labor will give it the fullest support."

"Labor will do everything in its power to help the government make the draft a success and to protect the rights of millions of young men who are drafted in the next few years."

ASSAILS ISMS

The labor chief, who chief address was broadcast, reiterated his expressed opposition to Communism, Nazism and Fascism, and declared that the A. F. of L. stands squarely and uncompromisingly with the American Legion in demanding that immediate steps be taken to curb and outlaw the activities of such subversive groups. He advocated also all aid to Britain short of war, and asserted: "So long as the Battle of Britain is being fought, there will be no Battle of America."

"We are opposed to the participation of our country in the European war, although our sympathies are with the heroic democracies which are resisting with all their power the attempt which is being made to destroy them."

STRESSES LABOR'S PART

"In a very large way, these democracies are standing between America and the invading armies of the totalitarian nations, so long as these democracies stand, resist and safeguard the Atlantic ocean lanes of travel and communication, we in America are safe."

President Green likewise urged that the United States, while pushing its defense program, maintain unchanged the social and labor legislation enacted in recent years.

Declaring that the success of the nation's preparedness program depends upon the "sweat and skill" of the working men, he called for "complete and adequate preparedness" to the end that "no marauder, no invading army shall ever set foot on American soil."

READY TO SACRIFICE

"The great army of workers represented by the American Federation of Labor," he said, "are single-minded in the conviction that the preservation of America transcends all other considerations."

INDIANA WOMAN TO HEAD AUXILIARY

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

Dramatic last-minute withdrawal of Mrs. J. Allison Hardy of Columbus, Miss., as a candidate for national presidency of the American Legion Auxiliary resulted today in uncontested nomination of Mrs. Louis J. Lemstra of Clinton, Ind.

Election of Mrs. Lemstra tomorrow will follow automatically.

She will head the Auxiliary in 1941, succeeding Mrs. William Corwith, 1940 national president.

Mrs. Hardy, strongly supported for the presidency and believed at least an even-chance contender, said her withdrawal was in protest against the Auxiliary's present "unfair and inequitable" method of conducting national elections.

HITS ROLL-CALL PLAN

She charged that the roll-call system now in practice militates against candidates from small membership states.

Temporarily out of the spotlight while yesterday's parade held the center stage, the Auxiliary resumed its business session in a Copley-Plaza ballroom today.

An early resolution passed was one calling for a Buy American policy by U. S. citizens. The auxiliary urged support of this policy by giving "preference" to goods manufactured or grown in America without recourse to the "hysteria and bitterness of a boycott."

Also accepted by unanimous vote was a report endorsing the Legion's stand for full publicity on the state of national defense.

NAME VICE-PRESIDENTS

Five regional vice-presidents won nominations equivalent to election today.

They are:

East, Mrs. Eben P. Keene of Honesdale, Pa.; South, Mrs. George C. Burton of Louisville, Ky.; Central, Mrs. R. Elton Warman of Morgantown, West Va.; West, Mrs. Roy L. Cook of Albuquerque, N. M.; Northwest, Mrs. Harold Diers of Omaha, Neb.

Although the Auxiliary had a "day off" yesterday, with even the headquarters deserted, the ladies did not take it as a day of rest. The Legion Ladies gave up no time out of the Boston visit to catching afternoon naps.

They did not march in the parade in a body, but their colorfully costumed band units did, to the tune of spontaneous applause all along the line. Moreover, many women from far-away states fell into line with their men-folk and covered the parade route in their blue capes and caps.

WATCH PARADE

Thousands of them stood, or sat in stands, for hours on end, watching the parade.

Martha Scott Weds Radio Man

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25—Martha Scott of "Our Town" and "The Howards of Virginia" has been the bride of Carlton Alsop, radio announcer, for a week.

Martha today confirmed the rumor that she had joined the ranks of married stars.

"Yes, it's true," she told me. "We were married Sept. 16 in New York. We really hadn't meant to keep it a secret, but it just happened that nobody in Hollywood seemed to know about it."

Martha said Alsop had given her her first chance on the radio when the days were lean and she was terribly discouraged.

MET AGAIN

"Then when he came out here to do a summer radio show, we met again, and realized that the friendship that had started in New York was really love."

There has been no time for honeymooning for Mr. and Mrs. Alsop, for Martha is getting ready to make "Cheers for Miss Bishop" for Richard Rowland, and today she was having fittings and studying make-up.

Actress Martha Scott today revealed that she has been the bride of Carlton Alsop, radio announcer, for a week... having been married September 16 in New York. The honeymoon has been temporarily put off... as Martha is busy at her studio.

ENOUGH IS PLENTY, SAYS JOHN OF ELAINE; 5TH WIFE? WHY NOT!

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25 (AP)—Enough is plenty for Actor John Barrymore, he says regarding his marriage to Elaine Barrie, but he is certainly not through with love and might even marry again.

He and his 24-year-old fourth wife, whom he sued for divorce Monday, have had many fallings-out and reconciliations, "but this time, gentlemen," he told interviewers, "I'm through—positively—definitely—absolutely!"

As for sweating off romance, "Don't you dare say any such thing."

"Why, gentlemen," Barrymore observed, "Love is such a gorgeous gamble! It makes roulette look like tick-tack-toe."

At his long vacant walled-in hill-top home where he sought sanctuary after leaving Actress Barrie, he regaled interviewers for some time with flashing humor.

Regarding the possibility of marrying a fifth time, Barrymore said:

"Why not? Solomon did it and he is a synonym for wisdom—quantitatively enough."

The 57-year-old actor is now in the process of having his debts adjusted under the new bankruptcy law.

"Sure, I'm broke," he said. "Flat on my back. But I've been stony before. So now I'll work like a — to get clear. I'll take about a year."

Barrymore's constant companion these days is John Decker, an artist, who has spent much time camouflaging exposed steam pipes in the house. He disguised them as knotty logs.

Barrymore said the pipes formerly "looked like cockroaches had crawled up there and died."

A guard is stationed at the huge locked gate 300 feet down the hill from the house. The guard wears a plainly visible .38 caliber pistol on one hip and handcuffs on the other.

His prime function is to distinguish between friends and process servers.

Grief-Stricken Over Mother, Son Takes Life

Grief-stricken over the death of his mother, a Lynn father of two children fired a bullet into his head while he stood at her grave in St. John's Cemetery, Lynn, police said today.

Stretched across the grave, Ernest Vealleux, 39, of Leavitt pl., driver for an express company, was found fatally wounded by Wilfred J. Cantin and his two daughters of Lynian st., Lynn, who had been visiting their family grave. Beside his body was a revolver.

Two chambers had been emptied, although only one wound was evident on his body. His express truck was found parked on the outside of the cemetery.

The victim's mother died a year ago. His father also is buried in the family lot of the cemetery.

Mellon Heir, 33, College Freshman

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 25 (AP)—Paul Mellon, 33, son of the late Andrew W. Mellon, who served in three administrations as secretary of the treasury, arrived here today to enroll as a freshman in St. John's College and said he expected to "lead a simple life" as a student. Mellon plans to live alone in a house formerly occupied by Scott Buchanan, dean of the college. He said his wife and daughter would remain at the Mellons' 400-acre farm near Upperville, Va.

Gallagher Accuses Mayor Carr of Fraud

In a surprise move today, former State Sen. Owen A. Gallagher filed sweeping charges of political fraud against Mayor John C. Carr of Medford, his defeated rival for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor.

Opposing Carr's petition for a recount of primary returns, which showed the Medford mayor a loser by an extremely narrow margin, Gallagher challenged the validity of more than 95 per cent of the 1900 voters' signatures on the recount request.

The Gallagher charges were handed the Boston municipal election commission as that body met to begin the recount.

FRAUD CHARGED

Submitted in writing and presented by Gallagher himself, the charges specifically alleged fraud in approximately 49 out of each 59 of the Carr recount signatures and questioned authenticity of the rest.

The signatures are "invalid, illegal and not in fact the signatures of legal voters," Gallagher asserts.

In support of his recount petition, Carr and his supporters furnished 59 signatures from each of 20 Boston wards. No recount was asked in the other two wards, Ward 2 in Charlestown and Ward 5 in Back Bay.

RECOUNT PUT OVER

The Gallagher-Carr recount was first on the municipal election commission's schedule today.

It was indefinitely postponed on receipt of the Gallagher charges, pending a hearing on a date yet to be assigned.

Mayor Carr promptly acted to protect his interests, sending Atty. Mark Gallagher of Medford to the election commission office to scrutinize the charges and take appropriate legal steps.

U. S. RUSH TO ENLIST AIDS DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Voluntary army enlistment offers pouring into selective service headquarters today indicated that a sizable part of the first compulsory service quota of 460,000 men might be filled without a draft.

Recalling that 435,000 men volunteered from April through August in 1937, selective service officials anticipated in the coming weeks a rush of men anxious to complete their year's training and be done with it.

Selective service officials pointed to the comparatively numerous inquiries already received at state offices, army recruiting centers, newspaper offices, and headquarters here. In New York, for example, special military police had to be called out yesterday to handle a crowd of 700 young men seeking to enlist.

A typical inquiry from a young Idaho lawyer who wanted to put a military service behind him in order that he might take up legal practice later without fear of being interrupted. He was advised that, or any other man from 18 to 36, could volunteer to his local draft board and be accepted for service unless deferred.

The more enlistments in a given draft district, the smaller the number that will be taken from it by compulsory conscription.

Officers suggested that voluntary enlistment might be particularly attractive to young men of 18, 19 or 20 who want to finish their military service before starting a college course or business career.

Speaking of volunteers of a non-military kind, Maj. Chauncey Parker, finance officer of the Army and Navy selected service committee, said indications were that voluntary workers to operate the draft machinery also would be "plentiful."

Expression of fear and pain grips the face of 17-year-old Jean Sledziski as an ambulance surgeon treats her injuries after the auto in which she was riding crashed into an "El" pillar in New York City. Another girl and two men companions were also badly hurt.

Independent Voters Line Up Aid for F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a newly-formed national committee of Independent Voters today that he was "very, very happy" to receive its support for a third term because, he said, democracy has a better chance to survive if it "remains progressive and liberal."

The men and women designated by Mr. Roosevelt as "Progressives" had just notified him of their intention to work for his re-election and of the formation of the new organization. Mayor LaGuardia of New York is chairman and Sen. George Norris (Ind.) of Nebraska is honorary chairman. Norris acted as spokesman for the 30 or 50 members of the organization's executive committee who called upon Mr. Roosevelt. He said:

"We have the entire Progressive organization of the nation here and want to line up solidly behind Roosevelt for President." Officers of the organization include many persons who have long been prominently identified with what they term the "Progressive Movement." Among them were listed Secretary of Interior Ickes, a member of the executive committee; John G. Winant, former Republican Governor of New Hampshire; Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard Law School, a former member of the Securities and Exchange Commission; Chase S. Osborn, former Governor of Michigan; Thomas G. Corcoran, a key man in two Roosevelt administrations, who resigned his governmental positions today to take part in the campaign (all vice-presidents), and Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina.

Hall Sees Ship Deal World Peace Basis

Hope of lasting peace rests in the Anglo-American trade of naval bases for destroyers, Prof. H. Duncan Hall of Harvard told the annual meeting of the New England conference of State Federation of Women's Clubs at Swampscott.

The future of freedom and the hope of stable peace, Hall stated, "depends more upon close Anglo-American co-operation and the possession by both countries of great naval and air strength and a network of bases all over the world than any other factor."

F. D. AIDES BATTLE TO HALT VOTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Christmas replaced the coming week-end in some adjournment forecasts today, and opponents of the controversial Logan-Walter bill conceded that the Senate would take up and probably pass the measure if Congress remained in session.

Sen. Minton of Indiana, Democratic whip and a foe of the Logan-Walter legislation, said it appeared to him that, barring early adjournment, proponents probably would be able to force consideration and eventual passage of the bill, which would impose new legal curbs on the decisions of such governmental agencies as the labor relations board.

SEES CHRISTMAS HALT

That Congress might be here until Christmas was the opinion of Sen. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, who told the Senate yesterday he was informed that the House of Representatives at the present moment would not vote to adjourn, and might not even agree to a post-election recess.

"If it does not vote to adjourn and does not vote to recess," he said, "it will be in session continuously until Christmas."

Barkley made this prediction in the course of an attempt to get Logan-Walter supporters to agree to delay Senate action until the middle of October, when a report could be obtained from a special committee appointed by the attorney general to study the procedure of administrative agencies which would be affected.

SEES LONG SESSION

The Democratic leader argued that, since it appeared Congress was going to stay in session, this report ought to be available for the Senate before it acts on the bill.

Sen. Burke (D.) of Nebraska, supporting the legislation, said it was all right with him to wait, if Barkley was sure that the Senate would not adjourn without acting. But when Sen. Hatch (D.) of New Mexico proposed that Barkley agree that the bill would be taken up before any adjournment, Barkley declined to do so.

Sen. Clark (D.) of Missouri said he had been informed that Speaker Rayburn thought that the House would adjourn but Barkley said that was not his information.

Buckley Ballot Hearing on Oct. 9

The State Ballot Law Commission today set Oct. 9 for a hearing on the protest against the Democratic nomination of Thomas J. Buckley, the so-called mystery man, for state auditor.

Atty. Edward M. McMahon, who filed the protest in behalf of Patrick J. Jennings and Harvey Corcoran, charged that Buckley "knowingly condoned" publication of "false statements intended to deceive the voters."

Mother Of Twins Murdered

ABINGTON, Pa., Sept. 25 (INS)—The bludgeoned body of an auburn-haired woman found slain in an unoccupied farmhouse at near-by Hornham was identified today as Ethel M. Atkins, of Philadelphia, 20-year-old mother of twin sons.

The identification was made by the victim's husband, James, in Abington Memorial Hospital while state, county and local authorities pressed their search for the murderer, believed to be a "sex maniac."

Atkins told detectives he had been trying to find his wife since she disappeared after they quarreled last Saturday.

The victim's head was crushed by heavy blows and the body stripped of all clothing, except silk stockings and one white slipper, was mutilated and there were deep bruises indicating a severe beating.

The scene of the slaying is within a few miles of the home of the late Mrs. Clara Buchanan, well-to-do West Norriston township matron, whose murder almost a year ago to the day is still unsolved.

Although authorities were never able to confirm their suspicions that Mrs. Buchanan was attacked, the year-old case has served to excite belief that perhaps a sex murderer is lurking in this Montgomery County residential vicinity.

Charge Guardsmen Denied Jobs Dropped

HAVERHILL, Sept. 25—Charges that Haverhill employers refused to give National Guardsmen employment because of the impending year's military duty were dropped after a probe, Capt. Halles E. Lohnes, commanding officer of Co. A, 132nd Infantry, said today.

Capt. Lohnes said five specific cases were probed, and one Guardsman was given work, while four others were joining the regular army.

Jury Indicts Youth In Murder of Girl

NEW LONDON, Ct., Sept. 25 (AP)—The first grand jury to sit in New London County in nearly four years had returned an indictment charging first degree murder today against 20-year-old Hugh B. Kenyon of Pawcatuck, accused of the slaying of Rita Wheaton, 13, of Westerly, R. I., following a quarrel last July 17.

The grand jury heard 20 witnesses and deliberated about an hour before returning the indictment. No date has been set for the trial of Kenyon, described by acquaintances as a "model boy," but it is expected to be held during the current term of court. The body of the Wheaton girl, weighed down with heavy rocks, was found in Chippabara Brook in Groton on the morning of July 13 by officers whom Kenyon led to the spot. She had been bludgeoned and strangled.

Lieutenant Arthur T. White-mars, commander of the Groton state police barracks, said Kenyon confessed killing the girl after she refused to marry him.

Kenyon has been awaiting trial in New London county jail where 20 years ago, his mother, Mrs. Mabel Saunders Kenyon, was confined prior to her trial for the fatal shooting of Dr. Herbert Teltow, Pawcatuck physician.

Mrs. Kenyon, who served six years for manslaughter, has been living quietly with her husband in Pawcatuck since her release. State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown, who presented evidence to the grand jury in the Kenyon case today, was a member of the grand jury that indicted the youth's mother two decades ago.

2 Seriously Injured In Crash of Truck

DERRY, N. H., Sept. 25—Two Massachusetts men today were suffering critical injuries at Alexander Eastman Hospital after the crash of a light truck in which they were riding.

The victims were Clifford W. Proctor, 46, of Bridge st., Danvers, and Benjamin Teague, about 70, of Beverly.

DR. GOOCH QUILTS B. U. FACULTY

Feeling that his recent publicity in an alleged blackmail case would reflect unpleasantly on Boston University, Prof. Wilbur I. Gooch has resigned from the faculty, President Daniel L. Marsh said today.

Prof. Gooch was named as the alleged victim in a blackmail plot in connection with which a former girl student and a Chinese musician now are under indictment.

While accepting his resignation, university officials expressed complete confidence in the professor and lauded his services to the university, who he had been associate professor of education and head of the vocational guidance department.

Prof. Gooch, nationally famed vocational guidance expert, was named in connection with the alleged blackmail last month when a former student in his classes, Mrs. Anna Chiarito, who had been known as Mrs. Anna E. Gooch, was arrested in New York, following investigation by the office of District Attorney Thomas Dewey.

Mrs. Chiarito and a companion, Jen King Lee, Chinese musical student at Columbia University, were arrested in a midtown hotel room where, according to Dewey's office, they had gone to collect $10,000 from Prof. Gooch after allegedly demanding $21,000.

According to the district attorney's office Prof. Gooch had appealed to Boston police after having paid Mrs. Chiarito $4000 over a period of years, not because he was guilty of her charges but because, he said, she threatened him with publicity which might endanger his career.

Stunting Blamed In 4 Air Deaths

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 25 (INS).—An airplane "stunting" was blamed today for the death of four persons, killed when their plane crashed northeast of Kansas City.

Victims were Paul Howe, 20, pilot; Ralph Grey, Jr., 23, Miss Eva Canton, 17, and Miss Georgia Yankee, 19. Howe was an instructor at a flying school where the girls were office employees.

THOUSANDS OF OTHER ODD ITEMS TO TICKLE U!

G-Men Seize Nurse In $50,000 Extort

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (INS)—The fantastic attempt of a lone woman to extort $50,000 by death threats from the wealthy spinster steel heiress, Helen Clay Frick, was frustrated with her arrest when she accepted delivery of a package she believed contained the pay-off money from a messenger in crowded Hudson Terminal.

J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, described the prisoner as Mrs. Stanley Beggs, 46, a Canadian alien who lived with her husband in a two-room apartment at Lyndhurst, N. J.

Helen C. Frick

Hoover declared that Mrs. Beggs, who is a registered nurse, had made a full confession in which she stated she acted without her husband's knowledge in hope of "getting enough money for a good boat and a new house."

Mrs. Frick, only daughter of the late magnate-philanthropist, was selected as a victim by the short, stocky nurse from a list of high income tax payers released for publication by the Federal government, Hoover added.

VIOLENCE THREAT

Each of three threatening letters sent Mrs. Frick demanded $50,000 on pain of violence. The first dated August 14th last, warned that "everything you own will be bombed." The second, dated Sept. 4th said:

"Remember the Lindbergh case" and noted "I have the bombs all ready if you don't pay."

The third, received Sept. 19, ordered that the money in $5, $10 and $20 denominations, be wrapped in paper and brought to Hudson Terminal Sept. 24 at 8:45 a. m.—rush hour—by a messenger who would surrender the package upon demand.

The last letter also contained a threat of violence to the recent Hercules Powder Co. explosion at Kenilworth, N. J., in which 49 men were killed, and warned against a similar disaster.

A squad of federal agents was posted at strategic points in the terminal. Hoover related that Mrs. Beggs was just stuffing the package into a small over-night bag when G-men took her by the arms and moved her swiftly but discreetly to an exit where one of their cars waited.

Charged with violation of the federal extortion law, Mrs. Beggs faces a maximum penalty of $5000 in fines and 20 years imprisonment.

CULT DEATH TRIAL IS RESUMED

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 1.—Arthur E. Cox, 48, of Philadelphia, a minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, goes on trial here today in the murder of Deputy Sheriff E. Dean Pray.

A one-day postponement occurred following empanelling of the jury to allow time for arrival of H. J. Covington, defense attorney, who was trying a case at Connerville, Ind.

Cox was arrested following the death of Sheriff Pray, shot to death allegedly when he refused to list to a photograph record exposing the cause of Jehovah's Witnesses. The jury was selected following questioning of 49 talsmen. The defense challenged 21 prospective jurors, and the state three. Atty. Scott entered the case yesterday, after Harry E. Nixon, Portland lawyer, withdrew as defense counsel because "discretion" in the handling of the case had been denied him.

Kenneth A. Carr, 23, of Cape Elizabeth and Miss Vaula A. Garfein, 18, of Portland, both confessed members of the sect, were held as material witnesses to Pray's death.

In contrast to the crowds that milled outside the courthouse at Cox's arraignment, only a few curious spectators were seen in the courthouse corridor. Guards, however, were on duty at every entrance.

ANEMIA AND IRON

IN the treatment of anemia the value of iron appears to be well established. It has been found favorable to supplement the use of iron with the use of liver or liver stomach concentrate. In addition to its value in secondary anemia it is said to be of benefit in run-down conditions with the loss of appetite and sluggishness when anemia is not obvious.

VITAMIN B COMPLEX

It has been demonstrated convincingly that Vitamin B furnishes a stimulus to the appetite. Loss of appetite bordering on states of poor health which often suggests the physician are often due to VITAMIN B deficiency. Conditions in which Cheney's "Liver and Iron Plus Vitamin B Complex" may be of value are loss of appetite, anemia, weakness, over-tiredness, undernutrition, weakness due to pregnancy.

DOSAGE

Cheney's comes in capsules of 35 to a package. 3 to 4 capsules at meal times are recommended three times a day, 60 to 12 capsules a day or as doctor recommends.

Thousands With Weak Kidneys Now Sleep Sound All Night—

Gain in Health by Flushing Excess Poisons Out Through Kidneys—Easing Bladder Irritation, That Causes You To Get Up Nights.

Thousands of men and women wonder why sleeplessness bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night—why they wake up tired, grouchy and drawn.

These symptoms may mean that your kidneys are sluggish, causing bladder irritation and these minor symptoms may become serious if neglected.

Barber Faces Trial In $100,000 Kidnap

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25 (INS)—His possible connection with the Mattson kidnap-murder in Tacoma still under investigation, Wilhelm Jakob Juhlenbroich, alien German barber, will be turned over to authorities of San Mateo County, California, for prosecution for the $100,000 kidnaping of little Marc de Tristan.

This announcement came today from Assistant Director Earl J. Connelley of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as G-men completed—temporarily at least—their grilling of the sullen German prisoner.

MATTSON TRIAL SEEN

The possibility still existed, however, that he might be tried later in Washington for the kidnaping of little Charles Mattson, who was snatched from his father's Tacoma home in 1938 and later found slain.

Connelley's only comment in that regard today was that "investigation of the Mattson case is still continuing." However, he shed further light on the crime career of Muhlenbroich, and revealed that G-men are satisfied he had no accomplice in the De Tristan kidnaping.

He had planned a kidnaping for months, Connelley said, making a laborious investigation of the wealth and social standing of 75 prominent families in the San Francisco Bay region. He decided only 10 days ago on little Marc, 2 1/2-year-old son of a French Count, as his definite victim.

G-men had no comment on the attempt of William Mattson, the slain Tacoma boy's brother, to identify Muhlenbroich as the foreign-looking man who snatched little Charles from his Tacoma home, demanded $28,000 ransom, and left his naked and battered body in a snow-bank 10 days later.

It was believed possible, however, that Muhlenbroich may still be tried for the Mattson kidnap, even though identification was uncertain, since the G-men have indicated they believe him guilty.

FITS DESCRIPTION

He fits the description of the long-sought Tacoma killer exactly. He is believed to have been in the Pacific northwest at the time, and the methods of the two kidnapers were similar.

If tried for the Tacoma kidnaping, he will face the death penalty under the Federal Lindbergh law, while if he is tried only in the De Tristan case, he faces only life imprisonment under California law, since his little victim was not harmed.

Dist. Atty. Gilbert Ferrell of San Mateo County said today he will insist on prosecution in his jurisdiction first, even if Muhlenbroich is later to be taken to Tacoma for trial in the Mattson case. He said the defendant even made fake California license plates for the black sedan in which he fled after seizing little Marc from his nursemaid. By coincidence, the license number which the kidnaper had chosen to counterfeit—6 C-6281—was issued to a man named H. C. Cavanaugh, said to have spoken with a German accent, who received them through a post office box at Half Moon Bay, not far from Hillsborough. This had led to the supposition that Muhlenbroich might have had a mysterious accomplice, until Connelley's revelation tonight.

DRIVE TO BAR HOUSE SELECTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS).—Southern House Democrats have started a backfire against the drive of Northern members to force the selection of a floor leader at a caucus called for today.

Powerful groups supporting candidates from below the Mason and Dixon Line rounded up support in an effort to delay the selection of a leader until the January session of Congress.

Northern members backing Rep. John W. McCormack (D.) of Massachusetts, claimed, however, they have enough votes to elect the Bay Stater as successor to Sam Rayburn, who was elevated to the speakership last week, succeeding the late William B. Bankhead.

Reps. Clifton A. Woodrum, Va.; Jere Cooper, Tenn.; and John Rankin, Miss., are the candidates whose friends want the election delayed.

A change in the lineup of the next House in November elections might give the southern candidates a better chance than leaders claim.

There are two other candidates from the North house who are expected to weaken McCormack's chances. They are Pat Hender, Pa. party whip, and Andrew Somers, N. Y., both of whom are to be placed in nomination.

If McCormack's strength is sufficient to force an election, his selection is assured. His backers were strong enough to force the calling of the caucus.

Probe Asked In Navy Contract

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (INS).—Demands for a thorough investigation of the award of $27,000,000 in Naval contracts to the Atlanta, Ga., engineering firm headed by E. W. ("Chip") Robert was raised as secretary of the Democratic National Committee was asked today by Sen. Bridges (D.) of New Hampshire, and Rep. Clench (R.) of Illinois.

"Of course the resignation is not enough," said Bridges in a statement issued through GOP Headquarters.

Citing the $341,360 "fees" to the Robert firm, Clench, a similar statement said.

"The whole business, smells to Heaven, and if Atty.-Gen. Jackson will not act, should be the immediate subject of an investigation by both houses of Congress."

Rice Lawyers Study Letter

EDGARTOWN, Sept. 25.—Defense attorneys for Ralph Huntington Rice, Oak Bluffs election teacher charged with the murder of Mrs. Clara M. Smith of Dorchester, today studied a vital letter over objections of the prosecution.

The letter, written by Rice to a New York woman, was ordered surrendered for study to the defense by Judge Raoul Brandreau, despite contention of the district attorney's office that it had an important bearing on the case.

Mrs. Smith, a Christian Science reader, was found beaten to death June 20 in a dormitory at the Rice School of Dramatic Art.

12 WILLKIE TIES F D TO NAZI RISE

BUTTE, Mo., Sept. 24 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie charged that President Roosevelt "contributed to the economic decline of European democracies" by a 1937 statement that commodity prices were too high.

Speaking under bright floodlights in the high school stadium, Willkie declared that Mr. Roosevelt thus had "contributed to the rise of Hitler." He said that for seven and a half years there has been a drift toward the concentration of power in Washington and added: "I doubt if there is any student of constitutional government but what wonders if ultimate concentration of authority in Washington is not disastrous to the American people."

BLAMES F. D. FOR COLLAPSE

"You will recall that in the spring of 1937 we had a marked business pickup and there was great hope throughout the world that the depression was at an end."

"In April, 1937, when the pickup was coming, the President made a public announcement that the price of commodities was too high. The effect was very disastrous throughout the world in my judgment. It was a factor in the decline of the democracies of Europe and thus contributed to the rise of Hitler."

"Copper was selling at 17 cents a pound. It began to fall immediately afterward. I am informed that this resulted in a reduction in the wages of every man who works in the copper mines of this area.

SCORES F. D. POWER

"The very fact that the President had enough power in his hands that his mere statement could have caused such a rapid decline in the price of copper, I say to you is very deleterious to our domestic economy."

"I shall appoint as secretary of the Interior, if I am elected, a man from the Western country who grew up and understands the atmosphere of the west," Willkie said. The crowd cheered.

Sitting atop an open car, the nominee waved to the crowds which overran the sidewalks into the streets. Mrs. Willkie, in a black coat with a fur collar, sat beside her husband.

Dakar Forces Hold Off Vicious Attack

ing. "I will defend it to the end." The ultimatum, government sources said, was backed by a threat to destroy Dakar's fortifications and occupy the city by force and was signed by "the Admiral commanding the British Fleet."

The headquarters of Gen. De Gaulle in London last night issued a lengthy communique saying British forces off Dakar were "only there to assure supplementary protection against any attack that may be inspired by Germans and carried out with their participation."

The communique said De Gaulle had sailed to Dakar "in French ships under the French ensign, traveling with his troops and escorted by battleships of the free French Navy." Editor's Note.

Fighting was reported to have continued all day yesterday, with British planes joining in the attack and attempting to bomb the Dakar reservoir. Aerial activity was said to have been hampered, however, by heavy fogs.

The government acknowledged that the 1364-ton French submarine Perseus had been sunk while attacking a British cruiser. The cruiser was said to have been damaged by a torpedo, however, and three British planes were reported shot down.

Nazis Seek Dakar as Base For So. America Activity

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (INS)—Germany planned to use Dakar as a submarine base and point of air and radio contact with the great Nazi system of agents throughout South America, according to information received in diplomatic and military quarters in Washington today.

That is the real reason, according to these well-informed circles, why Britain decided to attempt to seize the strategic French base on the westernmost tip of Africa, rather than let the Axis powers gain control.

The "inside story" of Germany's purpose in seeking to gain domination over Dakar as pieced together by authoritative diplomatic sources in Washington, follows:

Britain learned that 500 German technicians were enlarging the air base at Dakar, building a huge radio station, and revamping the French naval base only 1850 miles from Brazil.

In the greater naval base, according to British information, the Germans proposed to accommodate large numbers of submarines, which could operate against enemy shipping throughout great areas of the South Atlantic.

Germany hoped to resume, under the aegis of Air France regular mail and passenger service across the South Atlantic. Air France, before the war, broke out, operated regular semi-weekly service between France and Natal, Brazil, via Dakar. Germany's Luft-thansa had a parallel service.

Obviously, the powerful wireless station reportedly being built at Dakar would be used for weather and other flying reports for the commercial line. But, according to British information, actually the air line and radio would be only a "front" for communications with German operations in the new world.

Rain Halts Washington Airport Dedication

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—A pouring rain upset plans today for a coming-out party for Washington's giant new airport, and President Roosevelt's laying of a cornerstone was postponed until (4:30 p. m. EDT) Saturday.

NAZIS IN WORST NIGHT RAID of rain along the coast of the bombed east of France and Belgium.

Observers on the front cliffs reported countless flashes which told of the RAF's continued bombing long after the attack began late last night against what was an empty city called "the invasion ports."

A communique by the British ministry of air and home security said four hospitals were among the "many buildings" damaged in the night bombardment of London.

An undetermined number of casualties was reported and others were killed and injured in other parts of England, Scotland and Wales.

Boats the heavy explosives dumped on Central London on a serious big "Motor-off" bombings, lots of incendiary bombs were dropped.

U. S. OFFICES

One bomb struck the corner of the main London office of an American firm, starting a fire in one wing which was soon extinguished.

Censorship did not permit specific identification of the building but was believed to be the office of the Associated Press, just off Fleet. Staff members were unharmed but were forced to leave the building after ascertaining that they were operating temporarily "under extreme difficulty." Communication was cut off for 17 minutes—Editor's note.

While calcium tests, the bluish light of incendiaries, and the huge fuses of explosives, the communique said, were visible in the bombed sections. Overhead anti-aircraft shells burst like fireworks.

Several casualties were caused when a bomb hit a building in central London. A theater on the West End was demolished. The West and Southeast sections of the city shook with repeated explosions.

LOSS OF LIFE

Some loss of life was reported caused in one Southeast town where fires were started by bombs.

Houses were damaged and "a small number of people killed and injured" in North Wales, the communique said. Other parts of Wales also were bombed.

Bombs also fell in northeastern England and in eastern Scotland but no casualties were reported.

In one northwest coast town, bombs early today started three fires in commercial property. A large restaurant, stores and other buildings were damaged.

R. A. F. Bombs Rake Factories in Berlin

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—For two and a half hours heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force blasted "military objectives" in the heart of Berlin during the night, the air ministry announced today in the second successive night attack on the German capital.

The raid, starting shortly after 10:30 p. m., when the British ventured, "evading the intense barrage of the city's ground defenses, bombed the great Siemens and Halske factories which produce a large proportion of the electrical equipment used by the German armed force," said the ministry's communique.

Two "great fires" blossomed up under the burning planes. The British rounded out their foray with a 1 a. m. attack on the electrical power transformers and switching station at Friedrichsfelde, described as the source of much of Berlin's industrial electricity power.

Totalitarian Bloc Maps World Drive

ROME, Sept. 25 (AP)—Sign that the totalitarian bloc of Germany, Italy, Spain and Japan is being solidified for earth-girdling collaboration in a more active sense appeared today.

A newspaper, Il Popolo Di Roma, whose editor is considered a close friend of Count Ciano, foreign minister, indicated that Spain already has decided on active aid to the Rome-Berlin axis in the war against Britain.

Other indications, implicit in diplomatic maneuvering, included:—Disclosure that the Japanese ambassador to Rome, Eiji Amau, and Count Ciano, discussed the international situation at length yesterday, with "particular emphasis on the Japanese advance into French Indo-China."

—A report in Berlin that Ciano would travel to Berlin tomorrow for a follow-up to last week's Rome consultation between German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Premier Mussolini.

(Political sources at the German capital were generally of the opinion that Ciano would participate in some solemn ceremony of signature.) Editor's Note.

—The continued presence in Berlin of Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish minister of government and No. 1 aide and brother-in-law of Generalissimo Franco.

(The Berlin radio said Adolf Hitler received Serrano Suner at the Chancellery at noon today and talked with him to about two hours, their second consultation during the Spaniard's visit.) Editor's Note.

Il Popolo Di Roma said: "Italy welcomes with happiness the truly historic decisions of Spain and El Caudillo (Generalissimo Franco) and her solidarity in the war against her historic enemy."

Spain desires Gibraltar and the greater part of Morocco, the newspaper indicated.

Ciano Due in Berlin Tomorrow for Parley

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano will be on his way to Berlin by tomorrow for further conferences on the Axis war program, a usually well-informed source declared today.

Authorized sources would neither confirm nor deny that Ciano was coming so soon, but said:

"When we telephoned Rome a few minutes ago he was still there."

Political sources here are generally of the opinion that Ciano will participate in some solemn ceremony of signature.

Whether the Spanish Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, who was reported to have visited Adolf Hitler today, also will participate in the ceremony could not be learned.

It is known, however, that the protocol office of the Wilhelmstrasse is preparing for some sort of ceremony.

By BETTY ALDEN

RED AND GOLD autumn leaves and Japanese lanterns have transformed the barn on Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Cummings' Prides Crossing estate into a rustic setting for the barn dance they are giving this evening in honor of two debutante relatives of Mrs. Cummings.

The guests of honor are Deborah Bixby Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander F. Law of Brookline, and Mary Menden Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. McAllister Lloyd of New York. Miss Law is a cousin of Mrs. Cummings. Miss Lloyd, her niece, will spend the winter in Boston with another uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Goodwin.

In keeping with the informality of the party the debutantes are wearing twin outfits of red velvet and dirndls, with white organdie blouses and full sleeves. Before the dance they will be guests at the clam bake which Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Lowell Putnam are giving for their daughter, Lucy Twitchell.

After a repast of juicy clams, lobsters and roast corn, served around big beach bonfires, the debutante and Harvardian guests will adjourn to the barn dance, where Harry Marsh and his boys will feature old-fashioned country square dances, waltzes and modern swing.

John P. Cotton, Jr., and Richard S. Eustis head the usher staff for the dance, which includes William B. Long, Jr., Edward B. Long, Theodore C. Baker, James M. Martinez, Henry G. Simonds, Jr., Thomas Sherwin, Louis W. Cabot and William R. Eustis.

Christening on Dad's Birthday

THE T. DENNIE BOARDMANs of Boston, Palm Beach and New York are celebrating Dinnie's birthday today by having their little daughter christened at a service in St. Bartholomew's Chapel, New York. The child has been given her mother's name, Vivian Dixon Boardman. She is a granddaughter of Reginald Boardman of Manchester, who has gone over to Gotham for today's ceremonies.

Dedham Return For the Putnams

MR. AND MRS. ELIOT PUTNAM, JR., have returned to Dedham after a summer at Merryweather Camp. Eliot is assistant head master of Noble and Greenough School. Mrs. Putnam's mother, Mrs. Charles Wiggins, and younger daughter, Rosalind, are visiting Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott at her spacious estate in Newport.

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

MRS. CHARLES RUSSELL, who is returning to Boston to resume the social life she enjoyed here before moving to Washington, D. C., has taken an apartment at Longwood Towers. Every Symphony fan will be back in town by Oct. 11, the date of the opening concert. Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell will return to her apartment at the Vendome by the first of the month. Cape Codders are commenting on the friendliness and cordiality of Crown Prince Martha of Norway, who is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Schaefer at Wianno. The other day on a shopping tour of Hyannis she discovered a Swedish bakeshop, went in and bought all the Swedish bread she could carry. Mrs. Walter M. Phillips (Mary Bird) and her little son have completed their visit with Mrs. Francis W. Bird at Wianno and returned to Chestnut Hill, Pa.

Distinguished First Nighters

Governor and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall head the list of distinguished guests who will attend the 10th anniversary of the Civic Repertory Theatre, under the auspices of New Bedford Town Hall, Inc., on Monday evening, Sept. 30th.

"Late With Father," the play which made such a hit in New York last year will be the opening night attraction. Coming on from New York for the first night will be Mrs. Clarence Day whose late husband wrote the sketches on which the play is based; Russel Crouse, conductor, and Oscar Seitz, producer.

Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, Mrs. Charles C. Cabot, Mrs. Arthur A. Cushing, Miss Elizabeth Hobbs, and Mrs. Taylor May are others planning to attend the opening. Guests will congregate between the acts in a revival of the delightful British custom of serving coffee in the foyer.

The entire Civic Repertory Theatre has been taken over for Thursday Oct. 3, when the New England Hospital for Women and Children will benefit from the proceeds of a brilliant social occasion.

Following the performance a gay after-dinner party will top off the evening's festivities. For this affair Repertory Hall will be transformed into a Gay Nineties Music Hall where patrons may sit at small tables and partake of light refreshments while enjoying a singing and dancing melodrama. Sponsors for this brilliant occasion include Mrs. Charles Almy, Mrs. Paul Dudley Dean, president of the hospital, Mrs. B. Devereux Barker, Jr., Mrs. Nelson Bartlett, Mrs. John Putnam, Mrs. Thomas D. Brookline Man Weds

New York Girl Bride Of Anthony Faillace

Miss Natalie A. Gavin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles K. Gavin of New York, was married this morning to Frank Anthony Faillace, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gaetano Faillace of Brookline, at St. Thomas Church, New York. The Rev. Harold Clafson officiated, assisted by Rev. Lauriston L. Scaife of St. Thomas'. The Rt. Rev. Walker J. Gardner, Bishop of New Jersey, pronounced the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory faille with a basque bodice and bouffant skirt over a hoop.

Her lace veil belonged to her mother and fell from a princess lace Juliet cap. She carried her mother's ivory prayerbook with markers of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Mrs. Gavin wore mauve gray lame with a smocking hat and green orchids. Miss Alexandra Annaniff, maid of honor, wore fuchsia faille with hydrangea blue bow-knot trim, a fuchsia velvet bonnet and a wrist band of fuchsia orchids. The bridesmaids, including Gilda Faillace and Mrs. Anthony De Credico, sisters of the bridegroom, wore hydrangea blue with fuchsia trimming. Dr. Faillace was best man.

Following the ceremony a small wedding breakfast was served in the Penthouse Suite of the Hotel St. Regis.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will reside in New York City. The bride attended Facker Collegiate Institute and Katherine Gibbs School. Mr. Faillace studied abroad for a year and is a graduate of M. I. T. School of Architecture.

Women's Club Housewarming

The Women's City Club will celebrate the opening of its newly acquired twin residence at 40 Beacon st. at a gala housewarming next Wednesday evening, Oct. 2.

The present club and its new addition next door were built in 1818, have balancing facades and now form a complete artistic unit. The club purchased 40 Beacon st. last spring from Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lyman.

Mrs. James J. Storrow, first president of the club, will assist Mrs. Alexander Steiner, now president, in receiving. Helping them will be Mrs. Lorenz Muther and Mrs. Francis G. Curtis, who have both served as president.

Hostesses for the housewarming will include Mrs. John M. Abbott, Mrs. David F. Edwards, Mrs. George Frost, Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, Miss Rebekah Hobbs, Mrs. Murray P. Norwood, Mrs. Samuel M. Lindsay, Miss Emily MacFarlane, Mrs. Samuel J. Newman, Miss Lavinia Sabie, Mrs. Henry H. Stuckey, Mrs. Sanford K. Taylor, Mrs. Albert C. Tilcomb, Mrs. William J. Underwood and Mrs. E. Winslow Ware.

Mrs. Steiner is chairman of the housewarming committee.

WIFE FINDS HUSBAND HANGING

IVORYTON, Ct. Sept. 25 (AP)—When Mrs. Lillian Willis returned home from work she found her four-year-old daughter locked in the house and the body of her husband, George Willis, 37, hanging from a rafter in the attic.

State Policeman Thomas C. Leonard, who investigated, said medical authorities believed that Willis, whose body was suspended by a belt, had hanged himself early in the day.

The family lives in a second floor flat above a vacant store. Leonard said Willis had been in ill health for about a year.

Parade Greatest Yet, Says Commander Kelly

From a man qualified to judge today came the declaration that Boston's American Legion parade was without parallel in the 22-year-old history of the organization.

National Commander Raymond J. Kelly furthermore described it as a "tremendous and spontaneous outburst of patriotic spirit on the part of Legionnaires and spectators alike."

Commander Kelly, who viewed the mammoth pageantry for more than 12 hours, continued: "That was the spirit that put the snap into the feet of the marchers and the sparkle into the eyes of the watching multitudes."

"It was not the American Legion marching alone. It was the soul of all America expressing itself in the symbolic language of deathless devotion to the ideals of liberty."

"Every tramp of thousands of feet, every bugle note of war-time melody and every flutter of Old Glory proclaimed to all the world that the men and women of America were re-consecrating themselves today to the defense of God and country to the last red drop of blood in their veins."

Woman Freed, Kin Jailed in Arson

KEENE, N. H., Sept. 25—Mrs. Mildred Jacobson was free on probation today while her brother, Elmer Hoyt, 29, of Danbury, Ct. began a four-to-six-year sentence in State Prison on a charge of arson.

Hoyt, sentenced in Superior Court, was charged with setting fire to a house and barn in Chesterfield owned by his father and him and heavily insured. His sister is alleged to have driven her brother to the scene of the fire.

FIND MORE GUESTS THAN EVER BEFORE NOW PREFER WINE

WINES OF CALIFORNIA FOR GOOD TASTE

IS THERE A CHANGE in hospitality customs today? Well-known hosts and hostesses say so. It's come about, they report, because so many people now prefer a moderate beverage.

Perhaps you've noticed it yourself. How many men and women now choose Sherry at appetizer time. Or a delicious sweet wine at afternoon or evening affairs. Or a good table wine with the main course at dinner.

Try it next time you entertain. Give each guest at your house a chance to select wine. See how this considerate hospitality is appreciated.

TIPS ON SERVING WINE

AN APPETIZER WINE
Like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, nutlike in flavor. This good wine promises a good dinner to follow. It is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

TABLE WINES
Good table wines are made "dry" that is, without sugar. They are Burgundy wine, delicate, golden in color or Chablis (well chilled)... in servings half water glass size.

SWEET WINES
Go best with refreshments. Try port or golden Muscatel, served in a small glass.

they are ready to sacrifice, they are ready to fight for America."

With "bunks" wearing after the long, record breaking parade which wound yesterday through Boston streets before 5,000,000 spectators for more than 13 hours, the convention session today was slow to start, opening at 10:16 instead of 9 a. m. hour scheduled.

National Commander Raymond J. Kelly called the session to order and the invocation followed immediately by National Chaplain Patrick M. McDermott of Iowa.

URGES ARMY LAW CHANGE

Chairman Robert L. Gordon (Arkansas) read the finance committee's report for the year and was followed by Chairman Charles Mitchell (Louisiana) of the child welfare committee.

The Louisiana's committee advocated continued support of the state department's in the Legion's present program of child welfare and advocated the setting up of a program to care for children under 16 years who get into trouble with the law.

Under this recommended program the Legion would seek a change in army regulations, which now bar from army service anyone with a criminal record, even though that record may have been incurred when the subject was under 16.

The committee report also advocated war department setting up of junior reserve officers' training corps in schools for youths under 16.

At all-night sessions, ending early today, committees and sub-committees wrestled with recommendations of vital importance to the nation, which were embodied in more than 750 resolutions submitted for consideration.

Out of the labors of these committees came weighty decisions of solemn import, which the 1500 delegates will be called upon to support. Decisions designed to keep America at peace in a world at war.

Foremost among the resolutions is one calling for the formation of an "American Column," nationwide in its scope, to combat un-American activities by enemies within the gates; to expose those who by word or deed seek to subvert the American mind and American institutions.

The Legion's committee on national defense, with Warren Atherton of California as chairman, agreed upon a resolution which would set in motion congressional action to put more teeth into all national defense legislation, with supporting legislation by the States.

WILL PLUG GAPS

The establishment of a new "Code of Laws" to be enforced under federal and state governments, is aimed to strengthen present laws which the national defense committee considers do not go far enough.

Although Chairman Atherton declined to reveal in advance the details of his committee's deliberations, it was learned that particular attention was focused on the necessity for plugging gaps in existing regulations, especially in regard to acts of sabotage against water and food supplies and public utilities vital to the nation's security.

The convention is expected to demand that the legislation recommended by the Legion be enacted before Congress adjourns, to bolster the national defense program.

Included in the statement of purposes and principles of the proposed "American Column" is a convention pledge to "completely and definitely promote the cause of true Americanism" only as the legally constituted authorities shall determine and direct.

ASK PUNISHMENT

"To favor and promote the enactment of legislation which has had as its basis the curtailment and punishment of all subversive and un-American activities."

The convention is also expected to go on record as recommending the dismissal of teachers of alien doctrines and the filling of their positions by worthy and patriotic Americans.

That members of the staffs of foreign embassies and consulates be subject to investigation by the federal government, if and when they came under suspicion of spreading un-democratic propaganda, was also the subject of another resolution agreed upon in committee.

Still another resolution urges the registration of so-called Bundists and other groups known to be engaged in subversive activities.

The Legion Auxiliary also resumed its session at the Coppley Plaza Hotel, where Princess Alexandra Kropotkin of the former Russian imperial regime, was guest speaker.

ELECTION BATTLES

Beyond the atmosphere of the convention session was the spirited battles for election of national commander, national vice-commander, historian, chaplain, judge advocate and lesser offices. Nominations and election will feature tomorrow's session.

The contest for national commander saw two leading candidates out in front for the honor. They were Len Stambaugh of North Dakota and Ray Fields of Oklahoma.

New England's only candidate for national office was Harold P. Redden of Springfield, former Massachusetts department adjutant and executive vice-president of the

The 40 and 80 year old veterans gathered for the annual session at the Coppley Plaza Hotel, where the meeting was called to order by General William de Fer Edward A. Miller. He followed a concert by the Boston National Band, a local group.

The 1940 Legion Auxiliary of the 40 and 80 year old veterans met at the Hotel Coppley at 7 p. m. and at 7:30 o'clock, Mrs. Stephen Garity will preside at the organization's State dinner.

Throughout the day, as part of the Legion's Americanization program, a group of 25 distinguished leaders of 100,000 thousands of Boston school children in the various schools of the city on the subjects of patriotism and good citizenship.

TO CHOOSE A CITY

Selection of the convention city for 1941 also was to be made today. Kansas City, Mo., host to the Legionnaires in 1921, and Milwaukee, Wis., were leading for the honor.

Before the last unit of the last division in the greatest parade in Boston's history had passed the reviewing stand, the exodus of visitors began, taxing all the facilities of transportation by rail, air, bus and steamship.

Figures revealed today, disclosed that the Boston Elevated alone transported 130,000 passengers in and out of the city. Both the Boston & Maine and the New Haven railroads exceeded the record figures of the 1930 convention.

American and United Airlines supplemented regular runs with special planes, running in several sections. The Eastern Steamship Lines began transporting thousands of visitors back to New York, while the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway carried 10,000 persons returning to their homes after the parade.

Praise for the efficient manner in which every member of the Boston police department, from Commissioner Timothy and Supl. Fallon down, carried out the allotted task of controlling the largest influx of visitors ever recorded, was expressed on all sides. Also for the aid rendered by police of outside cities and towns.

Mayor Tobin, in a statement expressing the appreciation and admiration of the citizens of Boston for the orderly and thrilling parade, said:

"I believe the people of Boston were inspired by this patriotic spectacle. No parade in the history of the city was witnessed by so many persons or so enthusiastically received. I warmly compliment the Legionnaires and the vast throng of spectators for their orderly conduct."

ing eagerly for the Illinois, or Texas or Iowa group, so they might see hubby, father or son march in what may be the last American Legion parade for a long time.

In the reviewing stand at Boylston and Tremont sts. Mrs. William Corwith, Auxiliary National President, stood beside Legion Commander Raymond Kelly, both of them smiling broadly as their organizations swept by. Mrs. Corwith, wearing a light brown frock and a matching felt hat of the beret type, hardly took time out for brief meals from her post.

Seated behind them were the Kellys, the Commander's charming wife, in black crepe and velvet, with orchid corsage, and their six children. Also in the official reviewing stand was Mrs. James A. Woodruff, wife of Maj.-General Woodruff, Chief Marshall of the parade.

Princess Alexandra Kropotkin, member of the former Russian imperial family and now a columnist for a national magazine, was the principal speaker at this morning's session, over which Mrs. William Corwith presided. An address was also to be given by Thomas E. Haggerty, winner of the Legion's national oratorical contest.

At 5 o'clock the Foyer meeting to the Auxiliary Eight and Forty will be held at the Hotel Brunswick, after which members will hurry back to their rooms to pretty up for the States' Dinner at the Parker House.

Other thousands of Auxiliary and Legion members will attend the "Cavalcade of Stars," at National League Park, tonight. Said to be the largest all-star show ever presented at an American Legion Convention and sponsored by Schenley Post No. 190 of New York, it will feature Ben Bernie, Sophie Tucker, Tommy Dorsey, Bill Robinson, the Bailey Sisters and Frank Sinatra.

Warner Named As Judge

Gov. Saltonstall today submitted the name of former Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner of Taunton to the executive council for nomination to the Superior Court to succeed Judge Franklin T. Hammond, of Cambridge, who recently resigned on passing the age of 70.

COLOR, THRILLS, LAUGHTER HIGHLIGHT GREATEST PARADE

Things were strangely subdued in the lobby of the Statler during the afternoon hours of the parade. This Mecca for the celebrators was almost quiet in contrast to the scenes of Monday night as foot-wearers marched to regain their strength.

brushed off.

Stairways, hallways, lounges, all gathering places were filled with people who could only sit and nurse their aching feet.

After a wait of an hour or so, most of the legionnaires and their followers would go out once again to watch the parade as it passed in the vicinity.

Two buddies who had done their part in the two and one-half-mile march secured a horse from some place and began to ride it around in the square at Providence st. They finally rode it right into a bar across the street and without descending from their mount secured liquid refreshment for some time. The horse kept sniffling and finally decided that his riders had had enough. Without any warning he bolted for the door, almost unseating the two men and scattering a bar full of people as he fled.

Two members who had come from Rhode Island were heard to declare that the parade route must be seven miles long and they would not be convinced that the length of the march had not been increased since their last visit here 10 years ago. Maybe it was the lapse of years they said, but their feet told them different.

Many fainthearted people were in evidence along the parade route. In addition to thousands of peach baskets, boxes, stepladders, and folding chairs, some truck owners made themselves a good day's pay.

At Arlington street and Columbus avenue there were drawn up three large trucks with benches set up on them.

The owners of these vehicles were getting 50 cents for each seat and there were at least 50 to 60 customers on each.

At the height of the afternoon crush just after the crowd had broken out of control temporarily at Boylston and Tremont sts., police charged a campaign against unlicensed tonic vendors, seized a patrol wagon full of tonics and packed the vendors and their wares off to the station.

One of the most pathetic sights was the huge procession rolled by at Arlington st. and Columbus ave. was the little white shaggy dog which sat mournfully at his mistress' feet. His owner, a little girl, was standing on a peach basket quite unaware of the soulful stares of the little dog.

As night fell, several of the Massachusetts outfits blossomed forth with old lighting effects. Members of the Lane W. Adams Post, from Rosendale, and members of the W. W. Wood Post of Falmouth were equipped with lights mounted on their caps similar to miner's lights, the power being supplied from batteries strung along their backs.

Apparently the members of the Gloucester Post were not superstitious since their picturesque float representing a fisherman's dory was carrying a crew of 13 paraders.

A group of young men gathered at Arlington st. and Columbus ave. greeted a plentiful number of "Charlies." As each unit approached, they would cry out a greeting to "Charlie" and almost invariably some beaming member of the outfit passing at the moment would respond to the greeting.

One of Milwaukee's Police Legionnaires spent considerable time in directing traffic in and out of the Statler, blowing fiercely on his whistle and telling Boston how to do it.

Not all the marchers had lost their pep when they came back to the hotel. A marcher who had all the appearance of having been through a paint flinging battle gave many of the women guests heart failure as he dashed madly at them with a paint brush in one hand and an apparently full pot of paint in the other. They could not be convinced that they had not been bedaubed.

Dionysius from Denver was much in evidence as he wandered about with a lantern in each hand and peering into everybody's face.

Long before the Legion came to town, Mrs. Ann Mitchell told night and day as chairman of flag registration. She took care of flags from 48 states and from all U. S. possessions, handling about 800 flags with an average value of $150. She tagged and recorded them, kept them in special cases and after the parade, took charge of them again, to see that they are returned.

Thousands of Legionnaires were turned away from the Public Library, where all the departments were closed during the parade. The veterans and their wives took time to seek the periodical room, declaring that although they loved Boston, they wanted to see the news of their far away homes.

Two Legionnaires today upset a family when they chanced to meet a girl they used to know in school and hadn't seen since. She was in a hotel lobby with her husband. When he forbade her to join her long lost friends, the woman after a long argument, was last seen scurrying down the street with the two vets.

Sightseeing buses were crowded this morning taking families of Legionnaires to Lexington, Concord and the Wayside Inn. Although this was their big day, they decided that the 40 and 80 parade was enough and that they would avoid the crowds.

LEGION SPENT $4,493,918 ON NEEDY IN SINGLE YEAR

By BERT FORD

The American Legion fed, clothed and gave medical care to an army of 454,495 needy children at a cost of $4,493,918 the past year, according to the annual report of Ed Moregster of Salina, Kan., chairman of the child welfare division.

A volunteer force of 30,000 share honors for this triumph in the field of child welfare, which is but one of many major achievements of the Legion in its contributions to the nation. The men and women who toiled for the children were members of the American Legion, its Auxiliary, the Forty and Eight and the Eight and Forty.

Of the $4,493,918 expended, $2,536,670 came from the resources of the Legion and its three affiliates and the balance of $2,111,012 represented funds obtained from outside sources, such as government benefits for needy children. The sum of $81,326 was derived from the Legion's $5,000,000 endowment fund.

“WHOLE CHILD”

The test came from the treasures of local posts and units and from contributions of the Auxiliary, the Forty and Eight and the Eight and Forty. Much of the money represented came from poppy sales, benefits, entertainments and other charitable activities.

Throughout 1940 added emphasis has been given to consideration of the “whole child” and, as in 1939 recommendations have been adopted to improve the lot of the child in training schools and development of co-ordinating councils for general child welfare.

Depression years found the Child Welfare Division in every branch functioning magnificently in meeting increased demands made upon the Legion for assistance of the underprivileged, uniform recruiting was expanded. High tribute was paid the American Legion at the White Conference in 1939 for its effective volunteer child service.

Out of the depression years came a host of new legislation both federal and state, embodying radical changes in the public concept of the duty to care for underprivileged.

A department was organized to foster unity of study and action for the application of the laws of the various states, to make improvements and to see to it that veterans' welfare, administratively be advanced.

Through its legislative committee, the American Legion has transmitted to the representatives of the American people, chiefly in the Congress of the United States, its national convention resolutions on a variety of subjects affecting the welfare of the nation and its 130,000,000 inhabitants.

The legislative bureau in Washington was established, Sept. 7, 1919, under the BYOHER administration. A week later, Sept. 16, its first legislative effort was realized in the act of Congress which granted the charter of the American Legion.

The record of the Legion's legislative achievements is bright and varied and constitute a great contribution to the country.

The Legion had Armistice Day made a national holiday. It gained added benefits for the widows and dependents of veterans in 1938.

CURB LAWLESSNESS

The House on May 13, by a vote of 247 to 31, adopted H. R. 9060, which seeks to put the widows and orphans of World War veterans on a parity with the relatives of deceased veterans of all wars in which the United States has engaged.

This measure would furnish government protection to needy widows and children of World War veterans irrespective of whether the cause of the veteran's death was service-connected. The U. S. Senate is now considering the measure.

Richard Hartshorn of Newark, N. J., chairman of the National Child Welfare Committee and Miss Emma C. Fuschner, national child welfare director, are working in unison with 23 other national organizations to locate and eliminate the cause of lawlessness and juvenile delinquency.

Edward McNeil, national publicity director of the Legion, and Lyman Ames, who is doing an efficient job handling local publicity for the national convention, both say the Legion is a “veritable reservoir” of activities and the record proves it.

What with National Education Week, flag instruction, the Automotive Safety Foundation, oratorical contests, “Boys' States,” baseball clubs which have furnished stars to the major leagues; and the campaign against “isms” and all other un-American activities — no historical sketch, for a newspaper, could hope to do them all justice.

Then there is the auxiliary with a membership of 500,000 women; the 40 and 8 and the 8 and 40 and the Sons of the Legion, all deserving chapters.

The American Legion was conceived on foreign soil while approximately 2,000,000 men and women were members of the American expeditionary force, the greatest force of Americans ever sent to a foreign land.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the Legion has had international dealings now and then. The fact that nine of its departments and an additional 22 posts are on territorial or foreign soil, has heightened this interest.

(Another installment of American Legion history will be published in the Boston American tomorrow.)

VET STAR SHOW IS SHIFTED

Due to prospects of inclement weather tonight, the "Cavalcade of Stars" musical extravaganza, climaxing the Legion convention entertainment program, has been moved from National League Field to Boston Garden, the committee in charge announced today.

Sponsored by Schenley Post, 1140 American Legion, New York city, the huge production is expected to attract thousands.

Officials and members of the Schenley Post came to Boston by plane to stage and direct the colorful spectacle, in which national radio, screen and stage stars such as Tommy Dorsey, Ben Bernie, Sophie Tucker, Shep Fields and Rufe Davis, will take part.

Special guests include Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin, National Legion Comdr. Raymond J. Kelly, Glenwood Sheriard, Mayor W. A. Bennett of Worcester, U. S. Sen. T. S. Greene of Rhode Island and others.

Leon Brin, national convention manager of Schenley Distillers Corp. by which firm members of the Schenley Post are employed, predicts that tonight's "Cavalcade of Stars" will exceed any previous convention entertainment feature.

In addition to the headliners referred to, the show will present the Pied Pipers, harmony quartet; the Honey family, dancers; Buddy Rich, world famous drummer; Frank Sinatra, radio vocalist; Rainbow Conga and Rumba dancers; the Bailey sisters, vocalists; the Tumbling Fredysons, Ben Yoda's variety Eight, Shreito's uncyclists act, Monroe and Grant, dancers, and the Television Girls, a group of 15 beauties.

Boston will also get a peak at America's smallest soldier when Frankie Brown, Uncle Sam's only college educated midjet, who is preparing for a role in national defense, makes his bow to the audience.

We New Englanders are proud of our dairy products, and proud of the New England countryside from which they come. We hope you'll enjoy New England the way we do.

LEGION PRAISES HEARST'S PURE AMERICANISM CODE

William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, was today lauded for his "worthy contributions to the cause of a free and undefiled Americanism," during the national conference of the Americanism committee of the American Legion held in connection with the convention.

E. M. Libonati, chairman of the Illinois Department's Americanism Committee and member of the national committee, in a report of the progress made in his state during the past year on an educational Americanism program said:

"It is my happy privilege to report to this distinguished committee the marked progress of the Illinois Department Americanism Committee, since we last met in Chicago, a year ago.

"In conjunction with our educational program, throughout all Legion posts in my state, one of our greatest assets in bringing to the attention of the public subversive activities of certain un-American groups, is the Hearst newspapers, especially the Chicago Herald-American.

"The 95,000 members of the American Legion in Illinois again attest to the treatment William Randolph Hearst has accorded the American Legion's Americanism programs through news columns and editorial comments of his newspapers.

"Among the many stands taken by our state department namely, subversive activities, restriction on immigration, registration of aliens, universal training, Department of Justice's drive against foreign spies, condemnation of the American Youth Congress and outlawing of the Communist Party from state and national ballots, our causes were championed by Hearst newspapers.

"All these, the mandates of our last national convention in Chicago, have been given ample space and editorial praise.

"We of the American Legion hope that the co-operation of Publisher Hearst and his newspapers will continue.

"With these accomplishments, the American principles of government, by consent and not restraint will be maintained, and thus so long shall the individual be protected by the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights, granting and insuring as they do, a democratic form of government with freedom of worship, free speech, free press, and peaceful assembly."

45,130 Tons British Ships Sunk by Prien

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Lieut. Capt. Guenther Prien, the submarine commander who sank the British battleship Royal Oak in Scapa Flow, was credited today by a German radio broadcast of the daily high command communique with sinking 45,130 tons of British shipping in his last cruise.

Apart from the Royal Oak, the radio said, Prien's record now totals 151,400 tons and he leads all Nazi submarine commanders.

RHODE ISLAND

A Good Place to Work and Play

FOLLOW ROUTE 1, ONLY 45 MILES FROM BOSTON

Boston restocked its larders today, attempted to clean up littered streets and strove generally to snap out of the biggest crowd hangover in its history.

The mighty throng of 3,000,000 persons was just too much for the day. But afterward it was worth it. Boston police did themselves proud in handling such a throng as perhaps never before will be seen in this city. During 11 hours of the parade they held millions of things safe, cared for the injured and were particularly capable as nursemaids for thousands of children who sprang hourly from nowhere.

Most stupendous task of all was the clean-up, started as soon as the last marching unit had passed the reviewing stands.

All through the night city workers waded knee deep into debris. Piled up they had cleared off some 150 tons of paper and boxes. Firemen wet down the potential fire hazard early, but firemen kept fire forces running to scout houses throughout the night just the same.

All Boston eating records were by the board. Hotels, cafes, restaurants and hot dog stands battled to serve a collective appetite which last never had come to reach its limit.

One who passed died. The victim was Sgt. R. Dunlap, 38, of Marblehead, Somerville, who collapsed while watching the parade.

More than 400 were injured.

Most of them seriously. One quarter of the injured were children.

James W. Manary, superintendent of City Hospital, department day was the busiest in the history of that institution.

Stambaugh Leads For National Head

By KING MAKER

With the election of national officers for the ensuing year only one day away, candidates for the various department posts entered the final stretch of their campaigns—all confident that they will emerge victors tomorrow noon after the balloting in Symphony Hall.

The election, capping event of the Legion's national convention program and highlight of the business sessions, will be one of the most interesting in the annals of the Legion's 22-year history.

ONLY 4 IN POLL

The principal post—that of National Commander of the organization, 1,070,000 members—finds a field of seven candidates with announced intentions of having their names placed on the ballot during nominations tomorrow.

However, sources disclose that only four candidates will be in the race when nominations are closed by National Commandr. Kelly.

Candidates putting up a hard fight and campaigning bitterly, visiting most of the state caucuses, held following the parade climax, included, Len Stambaugh, of North Dakota, Ray Fields, of Oklahoma, Milo Warner, of Ohio and Roane Waring of Tennessee.

From this quartet a winner will be selected unless the present dope is completely upset, and a "dark horse" is backed up because of assagreement among delegations.

STAMBAUGH ORGANIZED

Len Stambaugh seems to be the outstanding contender for the Legion chief's job, but he has a strenuous fight on his hands. Backers of the North Dakota lawyer have begun to realize within the last 24 hours that a former "ruck private," from the oil fields of Oklahoma, Ray Fields, is making a strong fight and is one of the serious contenders.

Judge Edward Sheibertling of New York, Milo Warner of Ohio and Roane Waring are getting favorable reports from their campaign managers.

The candidate having the most active organization and strong backing of Legion officials, instrumental in swinging a large bloc of votes is Stambaugh.

NURSES HEAR HINES

Hospital beds available for World War veterans now total 86,000 and within six months 15,000 more will be ready, Brig.-Gen. Frank D. Hines, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, told delegates to the World War Nurses convention today.

Speaking before 200 nurses at the Women's Republican Club in Beacon st., Brig.-Gen. Hines said hospital facilities for veterans were now good and would soon be excellent because of recent legislation passed by Congress.

Other speakers to address the nurses, representing 47 states, were: Mrs. Agnes Dudley, president of the Massachusetts American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Mary Glynn, commander of the Bessie Edwards Post—Yeoman F and Mrs. Mary Tounignant, national president of past presidents of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Also Col. William Blake, director of Veterans Administration, Boston, Thomas Quinn, past commander of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion, William E. Sayer, adjutant of the Indiana American Legion and Chester Grant, commander of the Massachusetts American Legion.

Also Dr. William Griffith of the Veterans Bureau, Washington, D. C., and Watson D. Miller, director of the Veterans Rehabilitation Ass'n, Washington, D. C.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. John T. Lane, past chaplain of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion.

THE Legion parade will be remembered long as one of the most impressively American spectacles in New England history.

As colorful as human enterprise and ingenuity could make it, from the resplendently clad marchers to the massed flags, banners and standards, the pageant is impressed indelibly on the minds of all who saw it.

One could not watch a single division nor listen to a solitary band without being proud of his country and the men who are its representative citizens.

GLORIOUSLY WAVES THE RED, WHITE AND BLUE
A Typical Scene in American Legion's Mammoth Parade

One could not fail to realize that a nation so constituted should and must endure, come what may.

One could hardly refrain from a prayer of thanksgiving for the rugged faith of these Legionnaires who have resisted the disillusionment of a needlessly long depression and now look hopefully into a none too bright future.

And one could scarcely have concealed his regret that the Congress in Washington, seeking to re-arm the United States for defense and security, lacked the judgment to accept the services of such men.

Had the provenly democratic Swiss system of military training been adopted instead of the impending draft of youth, Legionnaires would have given America not only strength but WISDOM and EXPERIENCE.

Associated with them for four weeks a year, young men would not only learn how to become good soldiers but good citizens as well.

Then there would have been no fear of a great standing army's menacing democracy as great standing armies have frequently menaced democracy in other countries in other ages.

Our good friends, the Legionnaires, have demonstrated themselves to exemplary soldiers.

But first, last and always they are STURDY CITIZENS.

IN STALIN'S RUSSIA living conditions are so bad that, for fear the truth will leak out, all foreign correspondents in Moscow, with the exception of representatives of major press associations, have had to pack their grips and get out.

One of these was Correspondent Gedy of the "New York Times," who fled to Bulgaria and now tells us that people in the misnamed "Workers' Paradise" are expending their last ounce of energy to obtain the necessities of daily life and that so vital a food as milk for babies is available only in the most limited quantities.

"Incomes are stationary," he says, "and hours of work have been lengthened without increase of pay, and taxation is much increased."

This is where twenty years of the Marxian "noble experiment" have landed the Russian people.

Yet, all during this grim time, the Moscow Comintern, aided by its "American" allies, including the Pinkies and "Fellow Travelers," has been plotting to reduce the United States to the level of Czar Stalin's poorhouse under the guise of "social experiment."

Today, with the truth so revealed, it is incredible that doctrines that would lead this great country of ours to the same frightful state as that which prevails in Red Russia are not only being taught surreptitiously in our public schools and openly in some of our school textbooks, but that a political party which advocates such doctrines is allowed to function on our soil and actually to nominate a man for the Presidency.

On The Side

GRAND OLD MAN of football, Alonzo Stagg, is getting his College of the Pacific team ready to play Notre Dame. To give you an idea how long Stagg has figured in important football games: On Christmas Day, 1894, the Stagg-coached Chicago team played in San Francisco against the Stanford team coached by Walter Camp and managed by Herbert Hoover. Chicago won by a score of 24 to 4. . . . Bandleader Artie Shaw says with much justice: "Too many modern American composers are crying because audiences can't stand their music. Who has a better right to say music is bad than the guys who pay to hear it?"

HE RID HIMSELF of gray hair by taking internally something his family doctor ordered, says a Boston man. He adds: "It may, as the ladies claim, make a man appear distinguished but gray hair is no help to you when you are trying to get a job" . . . In Panama they handle highway speeders this way. Highways are divided into 10-mile sections. At one of these the autoist gets a time card stamped. He can then be stopped at any subsequent 10-mile point to have his time card inspected. If he has reached this point too quickly he is arrested and fined . . . Women should never run in public if it can be avoided. Nature has so constructed the average female that when she tries to run she waddles and presents a truly pathetic figure.

A YOUNG WOMAN says as she was unable to get a job in an office she took one as maid. For $14 a week, she worked from 15 to 17 hours a day. This ordeal ruined her health. "Simon Legree was an easy boss compared to the average feminine employer of domestic help," says this young woman. Complaints of this type are so numerous there must be something to it. Perhaps there should be formed a society for the prevention of cruelty to domestic help.

I AM ASKED if smoking in film theaters should not be prohibited by law. I don't think so; if it is limited to the balcony. I don't care whether I smoke in a theater, but I hate to throw away half a good cigar when I go in. Theaters where smoking is prohibited should have a cigar butt checking booth . . . So the word from Washington is we are going to have two Thanksgiving days again. This, it appears to me, is carrying the double feature idea too far. And reminds me of what the Governor of Oklahoma said last year: Thirty days hath September, April, June and November All the rest have thirty-one Until we hear from Washington.

THERE HAVE BEEN pipe smoking and cigar smoking Presidents, but Mr. Roosevelt seems to be the first President to favor cigarettes. Calvin Coolidge liked cigars but ordinarily smoked moderately priced stogies is true to his Yankee thrift training . . . Where were you in 1908? Anyway, following were makes of automobiles popular in that year: Stevens Duryea, Peerless, Pope Hartford, Winton, Stearns Silent Knight, Pierce Arrow, Franklin, White Steamer, Rambler, Maxwell, Locomobile, Stanley Steamer, Reno. First car I ever rode in was a Pierce Arrow.

MY DAY

HYDE PARK, Sept. 25—I must begin by telling you of a picnic which we had at Hyde Park on Sunday. You have probably read in the papers about how many distinguished people came to share our chowder and frankfurters at my cottage, so I will just tell you one thing which made me glow with pride. F. P. A. remarked, holding a paper cup in his hand. "This is good coffee. I never take coffee outside of my own home because it is usually bad."

Even though I had to tell him that Miss Thompson was responsible, for she is the person who really cares about coffee. I still felt a pride in having someone around who insisted on perfection, or as near perfection as she could attain in the way of coffee.

I understand that F. P. A. is running for election on the school board in his very Republican Connecticut district, and I sincerely hope he is elected. I can imagine no one who would be a more valuable member of any school board.

EVERYONE seemed relaxed and at ease. Even Katharine Hepburn, who landed in a seaplane in the Hudson river at the foot of our place and dashed a mile and a half through the woods to the big house, found the President to bring her over to the picnic.

I said goodbye to the President Sunday night because he was returning to Washington last night, while I was driving to Scranton, Pa., where I had promised to spend several hours visiting WPA projects. Something went wrong with the starter on my car and the day started badly in consequence.

However, though I wasted an hour, I had allowed a good deal of extra time and reached Scranton on schedule. The day was interesting and we reached Mrs. John Regis' (June Hamilton Rhodes) home for dinner and the night. Her farmhouse is a joy and the farm a most interesting and practical business venture.

BY THE WAY, I must not forget that this is Better Parenthood Week, and that I want to extend my congratulations to Miss Katharine Lenroot, chief of the United States Children's Bureau, who was awarded the annual medal for outstanding service to children, given every year by Parents' Magazine.

It was presented to her on September 23rd, at a luncheon which opened Better Parenthood Week.

The object of this week, which is sponsored by the U. S. Children's Bureau and leading parent education and child welfare organizations, is to improve the knowledge of mothers so that they may be able to make better homes for their children.

LILY PONS TO SING OPERA IN FRENCH

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—When the Metropolitan Opera presents "Daughter of the Regiment," it will be sung in French, instead of Italian—because of Lily Pons' insistence. It will conclude with the singing of "The Marseillaise," with shouts of "Viva La France!"—in which all other stars will join . . . ED FLYNN: Jack Connolly, of your Motion Picture Division, will leave Hollywood for Washington, after the campaign. He'll be a major in the Signal Corps . . . DEANNA DURBIN: Escape your new picture, "Spring Parade," is a costume film set in old Vienna, some Universal officials decided that the fans won't approve of a costume film. For all the publicity stunts, they therefore had the entire cast pose in modern dress. Joe Pasternak hated of this, and tossed out the entire costly publicity campaign . . . AMER. BAR ASSN.: The Holmes Memorial Commission is preparing a complete edition of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes' writings, to be printed and sold, cheaply, by the government . . . ELMER HARRIS: "Johnny Belinda," your new play about a deaf mute, comes as a blow to John Fante, the young author of "Dago Red." Fante almost has completed his first play, which is about a deaf man.

DEANNA DURBIN

JOHN ROYAL, of NBC, who returned from Portugal last week, spent his time there at a seaside hotel. After a series of pointless days, he was pleased to find his table set with all the equipment for carving a steak. "This meat smells peculiar," he told the waiter, when the course arrived. "Very fine meat," Royal was assured. "Fine Spanish horse" . . . The next morning he was awakened by hearing the Notre Dame football song blaring from the sea. He looked out of the window, and saw an American battle-cruiser whose crew, through a loudspeaker, played all the Notre Dame songs, as well as those of Cornell, Navy and Yale. "I cried," Royal confessed, "and defy any one not to have done the same thing."

LEPKE: The probability now is that Dist. Atty. O'Dwyer will try you for murder on Jan. 2, 1941 . . . N. Y. Tel. Co.: You should have some one replace the telephone in the President's study at Hyde Park. The mouthpiece of that phone has had a hole torn in it for some time now . . . JOHN D. M. HAMILTON: When Willie came to Los Angeles last week, during his campaign swing, Matt Adams, president of the Young Democrats, reported: "He arrived hat in hand, hair in face and foot in mouth" . . . EDNA ST. VINCENT MILAY: Rex Tugwell is prizing a letter he received from a simple New England farmer, when Rex was in the Dept. of Commerce, as true poetic expression. The farmer began his letter: "The apples are in red-bud, and the plums came white on Sunday."

PRESIDENT VARGAS: Arrangements are being made to broadcast the "million-dollar" show which will appear at the Night of Stars on Nov. 27, to your country and the rest of South America, as a good will gesture . . . FIORELLO LAGUARDIA: When August Heckscher and Albert Wiggin discussed one of the deals for unification of the city's transit system, Heckscher argued: "I'm for it. It means that at the end of 33 years, the bondholders will get their money, and at the end of another 33 years we'll all get our money. That's a wonderful deal." Mr. Heckscher now is over 90.

GILBERT MILLER: Robert Zimler, attorney for the Senate's Committee on Interstate Commerce, had an appointment at the banking office of your father-in-law, J. S. Bache & Co. On his way inside, Zimler accidentally dropped a half-dollar into the grating, and couldn't retrieve it. "Oh, well," he consoled himself, "it will throw off their balance sheet for the year" . . . AL JOLSON: Although Ruby Keeler quit your show, before it arrived on Broadway and became a hit, she still may work in New York. Ruby may accept an attractive offer she's received from an East Side smart-spot . . . WARNER EROS: Your star, Bette Davis, toured the night clubs last week-end with Harmon Nelson, her ex-husband. When photographers asked them to pose, Bette agreed in every case—but her ex-husband refused. At Armando's he explained it all to the camera man: "I still don't want to be described as the man who married Bette Davis."

NEW YORK IS EXPECTED to legalize Sunday night theatrical performances before the season is finished, and a bill to achieve the same result will be introduced in the Massachusetts legislature at the next session . . . A Boston salon has agreed already to sponsor the legislation, but the measure is expected to find hard-going locally because of stern opposition by the church folk and—incongruously enough, the motion-picture interests.

A NIGHT CLUB OPERATOR who took out "vandal insurance" against possible damage to the plush fittings of his refurbished oasis is lamenting the cost . . . The entire Rialto is ringing with praise of the visiting Legionnaires . . . Their conduct in the nightclubs has been so exemplary that the "breakage" in spite of capacity crowds, is below normal . . . At the Latin Quarter, a gentleman from Minnesota took over the microphone and furnished as much entertainment as any act on the bill.

THROUGHOUT THE FLOOR-SHOW, the Minnesotan had interrupted proceedings with a request for a cheer for his home state . . . Finally he made his way to the raised dance-floor, and good-naturedly stood his ground while Harry Spear, the witty emcee of the place, introduced him as "the cheer leader from Pootie's Field" . . . (Another of Harry's sallies was: "Do you know—you'd make a perfect stranger!")

BUT THE GENTLEMAN from the wide open spaces where Gov. Harry Stassen presides laughed it off and coaxed the orchestra into playing the melody of a tune, "Minnesota, Hats Off to Thee" . . . It sounded more like the Minnesota football marching song than a state anthem . . . If the tune had been a trifle easier to sing, the customers' chorus would have probably continued indefinitely . . . This incident was typical of the good humor which has prevailed since the horde of heroes came to town.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Governor (and Legionnaire) Homer M. Atkins of Arkansas tossed a party to a 100-odd conventioners and their ladies at the Coconut Grove . . . As yesterday happened to be the birthday of U. S. Atty. Col. T. H. Barton, from the same state, it was "Arkansas Night" at the Grove.

THE BEACHCOMBER and Orti's El Tropico as well as Joe Nardone's The Hurricane are proving that the conga-rumba stuff, in a bamboo atmosphere, is not a localized fad . . . These spots have been jammed . . . At the Mayfair tonight, Ruth Love, who wrote the words and music of a first-song which turned out to be merely "I'll Never Smile Again," is heading a brand new show . . . Kanny Weeks, of course continues.

THE LATIN QUARTER is holding over the pretty and talented Ruth Daye, who dances, and Harry Spear, the above-mentioned m. c. . . And for once and the season, announcement is made that Janet Carroll is also a holdover at Lou Walter's popular cabaret . . . Miss Carroll is the lovely young Worcester girl who belongs in Broadway operetta, and—if we can ever help—will get there yet . . . Janet is beginning her second full year at the Quarter . . . She didn't even suffer a summer layoff . . . Because there was a Latin Quarter at Falmouth, and Janet was its featured entertainer.

JANET CARROLL

THIS COLUMN'S favorite nightclub comic, Joe E. Lewis, is wondering this week on a new subject having exhausted the possibilities of speculating on the profits in the traffic of smuggling Republicans into Washington . . . Joe is a horse-player himself, and a devoted all-year-round follower of the races . . . "But what I want to know," muses Mr. Lewis, "is who decides whether a horse should run for H. P. Hood or H. P. Whitney" . . . It can't be the guy who assists Colonel Dave (El Chico) Egan in selecting winners of big races.

Hollywood Today

NOW ITS TO BE SENOR TAYLOR

By Louella O. Parsons

Robert Taylor

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25—Probably the most exciting and certainly the most unusual role that Robert Taylor has ever brought to the screen will be "Viva Zapata," the life of one of Mexico's greatest patriots. Zapata was a member of Pancho Villa's band but had ideas of his own and it was his influence that changed Mexico's political policies. Zapata was eventually shot by his political enemies. M-G-M closed the deal for the film rights to "Viva Zapata" just five minutes before we went to press. It's by Edgcomb Pinchon, author of "Viva Villa" which coined shenkels for M-G-M years ago when Wally Berry made it.

Putting stars of Rob's appeal in these Latin epics proves more than anything else how eagerly Hollywood producers are wooing our South American friends. Ty Powers' "The Mark of Zorro" is aimed at the same audience because that is where the foreign money is today. It looks like a big year for Señor Taylor who has really been clicking with big and important stories since "Waterloo Bridge."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Bette Davis and her former husband, Harmon Nelson, spent a whole evening at Pierre's in New York holding hands. Well, it's no secret these two are still in love: John Barrymore, who once again is saving adieu to Elaine, has gone to the mountains for a few days fishing trip with John Decker, junior is that Anita Louise's other, Ann Baresford and Peter Whitehead, from whom she has been estranged, will reconcile. Valentino, dressmaker to many of our stars, showed her collection at one of the important shops today. Princess Vasil Romanoff was in charge. Among our well-dressed women there were Mrs. Jack Warner and Irene Dunne: John Howard accompanied his stand-in, Richard Bartlett, to Las Vegas when Bartlett married Evelyn Christopher. John then went East.

BETTE DAVIS

BOOTS MALLORY: Bill Cagney's wife, is in Hollywood Hospital for observation; Mildred Temple formerly associated with Cosmopolitan Magazine, will play the Duchess of Windsor in an Elsa Maxwell short. Mildred looks exactly like Wally. Betty Grable and Allan Gordon glimpsed at Ciro's; Betty Field planes East to talk over a new play with Elmer Rice.

EVELYN BRENT back after a year's personal appearance tour talking a picture deal with Columbia; Susan Hayward, who has never had as good movie roles as she should, being tested for the role of Hester in "Legends"; M-G-M is giving Arthur Murray fifty prints of the conga sequence which Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland did so well in "Strike Up the Band."

BET YOU A NICKEL you will never guess what "The Strawberry Blonde," a coming Warner epic starring Jimmy Cagney and Ann Sheridan, really is. Well, prepare for a surprise. It is actually "One Sunday Afternoon," the well known play by James Hagan which ran on Broadway and later served as a Paramount movie for Gary Cooper. The bosses at Warner get their heads together and decided to team Jimmy and Annie because the public seemed to like them so well in "Key for Conquest" so "Strawberry Blonde" (not a bad title) will march to the screen ahead of "The Tarks Are Coming."

GOODNESS, we're going Mexican today. Dolores Del Rio leaves shortly for Mexico to settle her father's estate and talk over a movie deal with Chano Ullrich, Mexican movie director. He falls here with the script of "Santa," his next picture. I will be surprised however, if Dolores stays in her native Mexico for her romance with Orson Welles is at fever's heat and somehow I cannot see her separating herself from him. Yet she's always wanted to make a picture under the right conditions in Spanish and the story "Santa" which is the "Gone With the Wind" of Mexico, offers her unexcelled opportunity. Certainly now would be the time for Dolores to make a picture in Spanish for the Latin countries.

GALA PARADE OF STARS ON RKO BOSTON STAGE

A gala parade of entertainment will dominate the RKO Boston stage for four days, starting tomorrow, when Major Bowes' Radio Graduates appear with a big company of future stars plus additional RKO acts.

On the screen will be two first-run features, "Missing People," starring Will Fyffe, and Gene Autry's new film, "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride."

The Radio Graduates revue is heralded as the top unit ever produced and sent out by the remarkable Major. The cast consists of the Sinclairs, Triplets, "three look-alikes who are tops in rhythm"; Jack Murray, the human swing-band; Harry Robinson, "the railroad man with the nimble feet"; Lynn Lawrence, "The Queen of Swing"; George Bell, whom the Major claims as his greatest discovery; Stubby Kaye, singing impersonator and master of ceremonies; O'Brien & Goldberg, two funny men from the Bronx; The Rigoletto Trio, a bell-boy, a porter and an unemployed laborer.

As special added attractions are Bob Easton, assisted by Ondee Odette and Doris Keyes, together with the Winters Sisters. "Missing People," an adaptation of the Edgar Wallace mystery novel, is the story of a country gentleman who turns amateur detective to save the life of a young heiress marked for death by a sinister band of murderers.

"Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride," latest Gene Autry Western, reveals his fight to save his packing company from unscrupulous competition. Smiley Burnette, June Storey, Mary Lee, Warren Hull and the Hackmackers, complete the cast.

Theater Guild Play Coming to Boston

When "The Male Animal" turns up in its Chicago engagement, it will be seen by Theater Guild subscribers here and in seven other guided subscription cities outside of New York.

"The Male Animal," a Remick Shumlin production, was written by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent with the latter in the lead role. Shumlin directed with Anne Bernstein, designer of the settings.

'FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT' DUE AT LOEW'S TOMORROW

Joel M'Crea Stars in Film Version of War-Spy Thriller

In the minds of Americans today the foreign correspondent commands a position once held by Arctic explorers and transatlantic fliers. His picture is reprinted in weekly magazines, his books are best-sellers, his voice is heard over the air, his words inspire newspaper headlines—and now his life story becomes a motion picture.

It is the synthesis of these modern annals that Joel M'Crea reprints in "Foreign Correspondent," the Alfred Hitchcock-directed production which opens at Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters tomorrow.

Walter Wagner, producer of "Foreign Correspondent," has a way of mixing with contemporary history that even surprises him sometimes.

An instance of this is the picture's Dutch sequence indicating that Holland was "peopled with spies." The background shorts, made in Holland before it was in the news, had to be made a second time because the first films were lost when the ship carrying them was torpedoed.

There was another time when Wagner, then working in George Creel's propaganda service following the World War, tried to get William Bullitt (President Wilson's man Friday at the time) to sell Wilson the idea of doing a regular propaganda campaign on signing the Peace Treaty and putting over the League of Nations in America.

LORRAINE DAY and Joel McCrea in "Foreign Correspondent," opening tomorrow at Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters.

In 1936, Italy would have become England's ally, Wagner said the other day during his Boston visit, if only England had said the word.

On the same bill, "Out West With The Peppers," features Edith Fellows, Dorothy Peterson, Ronald Sinclair and the Little Peppers.

Robert Benchley To Make 6 Shorts

Shooting on the first three of the six shorts Robert Benchley will make Paramount goes on at the East Astoria plant. Benchley, Leslie Roush and Justin Herman of Paramount's shorts department collaborated on the scripts.

Burgess Meredith Gets Starring Roles

Ernst Lubitsch has signed Burgess Meredith for the second lead in his as yet untitled romance comedy for United Artists, which will star Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas. Meredith has also been signed by Universal to co-star with Irene Hervey in "San Francisco Docks."

Cooking Chameleon Vegetables

By MARTHA LEE

BEETS and carrots are two vegetables that homemakers often depend on for color and "eye-appeal" as well as food value in the daily menus; but few homemakers, or farmers either, have understood the reason for variation in the color and quality of beets and carrots from the same seed.

A report just made by the United States Department of Agriculture answers some of the questions about these variations.

Taking beets first, the Department has found some varieties of beets grown in the spring will have a light purplish-red flesh, streaked with white. But beets from the same seed grown in the fall are very dark, with no white streaks.

Beets show their best color if the weather is cool around harvest time. The type of soil, and the amount of fertilizer and water that the beet plant receives are responsible for well-founded beets with a fine top-root, and crisp succulent tender flesh.

CARROT COLOR IS SIGNIFICANT

Scientists have found that to develop the color of carrots, the more vitamin A they contain. While color in carrots is partly a matter of heredity—the strain and variety—it also depends on such other factors as fertile, well-drained soil, and reasonably warm growing weather.

Too much cool weather and wet soil, may make carrots look some what lighter. As carrots get older, they tend to store more vitamin A and to take on a deeper, richer color.

BOILED BEETS

Cut off tops about two inches above roots. Wash beets thoroughly. If tops are young and tender, they may be washed and cooked separately as greens; tiny beets are often cooked with leaves attached. For young beets, with or without tops, cook, covered, in boiling salted water to cover 30 to 60 minutes, or until tender.

For mature beets, use a large amount of water and cook one to two hours. When beets are tender, plunge into cold water and rub off skins. Serve small beets whole and slice or dice large beets; reheat and season as desired. Allow 1/4 to 1/3 lb. topped beets per portion; one pound makes about two cups of diced, cooked beets.

DEVILED BEETS

3 tbs. melted butter
2 tsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. each paprika and mustard
1 tsp. powdered sugar
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Beat all ingredients and pour over 3 cups diced, cooked beets and serve hot.

SLICED BEETS IN SOUR SAUCE

2 tbs. butter
2 tbs. flour
1/2 cup beet liquor
1/2 tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
2 tbs. sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
Make a medium white sauce of the butter, flour and beet liquor; add salt, pepper, sugar and vinegar, and bring to a boil; pour hot sauce over sliced beets.

GLAZED CARROTS

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup hot water
21 small whole carrots
Cook brown sugar, butter and hot water together for five minutes. Brush syrup over cooked whole carrots and bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) about 20 minutes, or until browned, basting occasionally with remaining syrup. Makes 6 servings.

Beading Comes Back

ALL THAT glitters is smart this season... so beading is back, to trim a frock which has been designed especially for the shorter figure. With slender ribbons of steel or bronze beads arranged to suggest a bolero, the effect is brilliant against the mossy-dull texture of a new Eastman acetate rayon crepe. A Boston shop features this pretty and smart women's size frock: phone or write our Fashion and Beauty department for details.—ANNICE BRINK.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

IS THERE Too Much Mama in our American scheme of things? Have we sold out our old, virile ideals for a "Female Dream" of comfort, culture and security?

Are we changing a democracy to a dikeocracy? And is all this petting and protection making bums of us?

LET ME HASTEN to assure you that these notions are not necessarily my opinion. If you want to throw something, blame Mr. Roy Skelton, whose magazine article, "The Inner Threat: Our Own Softness," is certainly some red hot stuff. While you're reaching for it, here's the general drift.

America was a Tough Outfit once. We were short on a lot of things, such as comfort, culture and cold cash. But no one tackled use without wishing he hadn't. But now we've had over 100 years of comparative peace and plenty during which time Mom has taken us in hand and taught us Company Manners. And an appreciation of the Higher Things of life. So What? Suppose a war does come along—how do you think we'd rate?

ARE we still loaded for bear? Still able and eager to lick our weight in viduants?

MR. SKELTON definitely thinks NOT. And puts the responsibility right up to the Mrs. and The Girls. Not that he underestimates their talents. To the contrary, he hands them whole fistfuls of medals.

He admits that the ladies have achieved some mighty pleasing results. We're no end cleaner and politer than we were in 1840. We're tucked out most of the cuspidors and put a taboo on Grandpa's "plug in." We live in a far healthier world than our old folks did—and infinitely more comfortable and convenient one. In short, Mom's taken these United States right out of Dad's unmanicured mitts and done them over to conform with our refined female pattern. And right there is where Mr. Roy Skelton tucks loose with all his artillery.

For, according to him, that refined pattern is raising Cain with the one well-known American spine. Reason? Why? The first thing every woman desires and demands for herself and her children is SAFETY. Plus new living room curtains, a nice car, college educations as soon as possible. All of which are different versions of her main desire for secure and pleasant living.

Whereupon several thousand sisters will indignantly query: "Well, what's wrong with that? Naturally any good mother wants to do the best for her children!"

BUT THAT, protests friend Skelton, is just the point. All this soft, safe, sweetie-pie plan of living is NOT "the best thing" for either the youngster or his nation. It's perfectly natural for any female animal to wish to protect her offspring, and, incidentally, quite pleasing to her own sense of importance. BUT THE GREATEST DANGER TO ANY LIVING THING IS LACK OF DANGER!

We humans need roughage in life as vitally as a hen needs grit in her craw. Remove a people from all risks and shocks, protect them from tests and tribulation, and what have you left? A MESS OF MARSHMALLOWS!

So now it's YOUR turn to tell 'em, Sara Jane. What's your reaction to this Skelton blast? Do you agree that Mom—grand old gal though she is—has been running the show her own way far too long and that somebody should let Dad out of the doghouse so he can have a little redeeming blood and thunder into the midst of all this sweetness and light? Yes? No? Let's have it!

PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY

You Can Be Beautiful Woolen Season Is Here

By ARLINE GOULD

THOUGH the weather is refreshingly cool... and the heat waves of summer are a not-too-pleasant memory... it's no sign you can let up your vigilance on the details of personal grooming.

You're getting into the woolen season... with precious cashmires and shetlands to be thought of... for wool, an affinity to your own skin and its oils, has a way of absorbing and retaining perspiration odors. It's up to you to protect your possessions and your own daintiness by using a deodorant lotion, a brand new one which neutralizes and checks perspiration instantly for a day or more.

In making this special precautionary type of grooming aid, it was considered that only 7 per cent of the active ingredient required to check perspiration should actually be used... to make the aid more soothing to sensitive skin, and to give protection long enough to last between daily baths and showers. Actually, it will react for one to three days, depending on oneself.

You'll find it more satisfactory, more dependable... infinitely better for your clothes and yourself... to use such an aid as this one every day.

Incidentally, this is a new type of deodorant lotion in texture and type, too... it is a mild and gentle emulsion that leaves the skin feeling very much the same as does a hand or body lotion... very soothing.

It's applied with the fingertips and allowed to dry before before dressing... that's all! If you'd like to learn all about this new "dress shield" deodorant lotion (6¢ per bottle) phone Arline Gould, LI-Berty 4000, weekdays except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Is Beauty to a Woman Worth this much suffering?

One young woman of thirty has answered this question. Her answer is "YES."

Since she was a little girl at school, she has tried to compensate for her homeliness with bravery and with intelligence. It has been "no go."

When her friends knew that she was planning to endure two serious facial operations (not just "face lifting"), they said: "You're crazy." She knew her jaws would be wired tight-shut for a month; that her whole face would be black and blue; that her hearing and eyesight would be affected temporarily.

But she didn't care—as long as she could come out of it with Beauty.

Will other women soon be able to have exactly the faces they desire? Do you think it's impossible? Read in this issue the first part of an extraordinary human document—all true, all of it authenticated—written while our subject is still in the hospital getting over the first of two serious facial operations.

the end of it will take your breath away! The author is Wilbur Daniel Steele, and we believe you will remember it long after you have read it. This story has that kind of greatness.

I HAVE RECEIVED an interesting letter from a reader who signs himself "Doubting Thomas" in which he asks some questions pertaining to racing conditions in New England. Here is the letter:

"I have been attending racing at the New England pari-mutuel tracks since Lou Smith first conducted legalized racing at Rockingham Park. Like thousands of other persons, I have made my wagers every day I have been at a track. I have had quite a number of winners, while I have had a large bundle of losers.

"I wish, Mr. Boston, you would tell me why the horses run truer to form in New York and in Maryland than they do in New England? I find it impossible to win at the track when the long shots are popping in. Maybe I should be classified as a form player. They do say that chalk players are bound to end up with indigestion as the form horses usually do not win more than 30 per cent of the time at any track.

"Is there a jockey ring, operating in New England?"

"Is there any truth to the whispered rumor that at times the conditions of a race are drawn in a manner to make it almost certain for a particular horse to win, and that the 'insiders' cash in on the situation?"

"Are the people operating the three New England tracks, Suffolk Downs, Rockingham Park and Narragansett Park, more interested in making money for the managements and the stockholders than they are in protecting the public down to its last slim dime?"

Long Shots Also Win in New York

I THINK, Doubting Thomas, that your questions are fair ones. I agree with you when you say more long shots win in New England than in New York or Maryland. This, of course, is not always the case. At the opening at Belmont on Monday, there was only one horse that paid less than 3 to 1. There was a payoff of $104.50 on Formation, $56.50 on Bayport, $34.40 on Mad Policy, and 4 to 1 odds on three other horses.

The chief reason there are shorter prices in New York and Maryland than in New England, is that these states have a slightly better grade of horses other than in the stake events. When class horses are competing against each other, there is not likely to be a long shot no matter who wins.

In the New York fields that have long priced horses, there are usually a few class horses who take the money places.

Horses are much like athletes. Take your top flight athletes in any field, and they will play close to form. You will notice this particularly in golf and in boxing.

This is not true with second and third-class thoroughbreds and with mediocre athletes. Once you go below the class group, you find inconsistencies. This is why among the $1000 players one will win today, another tomorrow and a third one the following day.

Racing luck and condition decide most of these races. Many of these cheap players have physical handicaps that retard their racing. They only run well on the day they physically feel all right.

It was due to this situation that Lou Smith started his horse retirement fund. Smith knows that many unfit horses are running, and that they should be retired. Their owners would like to retire them, but they cannot afford to do so unless they are paid $100 to $200 for their horses.

When one of these horses occasionally wins at a huge price, the chances are the owner didn't have more than a sentimental $2 bet on him.

Take the case of Post Office, owned by "Red" Shapiro. Post Office hasn't won a race all season, but yet he keeps running. If he wins one of these days, it is 100 to 1 Shapiro will not have more than $2 on him. If you wish Post Office to win under your colors, drop in at Narragansett Park with a van and you can have Post Office for a reasonable price.

No Jockey Ring in Operation

THERE ISN'T any jockey ring in operation in New England. Most of the youngsters are eager to make good, and they give their utmost efforts every time they start in a race.

33 EAGLES HEAD SOUTH FOR TULANE GRID CLASH

International News Photograph Service

SWISH—Clyde Jeffery, of Stanford, who does 9.5 for 100, carries the mail in football togs during the fall. Jeffery should make Stanford job a pleasant one for Frank Shaughnessy, late of the late Chicago University eleven.

Beside the head mentor and his 33 athletes, "Lightnin' Lou" Montgomery, who though he won't play Saturday, was included in the departing squad. The Boston contingent also included Line Coach Joe McArdie, Rev. Maurice V. Dulles, S. J., new faculty director of athletics; John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletics; Doctors Godwin and Merrick, team physicians; Frank Jones, trainer; Larry Kenney, property manager and Tommy McDonald, student manager. A smattering of newspapermen and royal rooters was also included in the three car special.

The athletes were cheered by the full student body at the Heights where they boarded busses for the trip to the big train shed. Though unable to follow and cheer further at the railroad station, the hearts of the student body was with the squad all the way.

FIRST PRACTICE IN GEORGIA

Tonight the traveling Eagles and company will dine in New York. Tomorrow afternoon they'll be in Atlanta, Ga., where the Leahys will work out at Georgia Tech's athletic plant. After an overnight hop the Eagles will arrive in New Orleans early Friday morning. The same afternoon they'll practice in the mammoth Sugar Bowl, scene of Saturday's clash.

According to reports emanating from the South, Tulane will subject the visiting Bostonians to the biggest aerial bombardment ever unleashed at the Sugar Bowl. This is something new for Tulane, for last season the Lowell Dawson coached club won its ball games on raw power. New Orleans followers, however, weren't particularly impressed with that sort of play so this year Dawson is placing emphasis on passing. Bubber Ely and Bob Glass, both sophomores, are the Tulane tossers who are expected to match Boston College gunners Charlie O'Rourke and Mickey Connolly.

This week New Orleans has been listening to plenty of rain on the roof. Accordingly the Tulane practice sessions have been limited. The weather also has been cool. If the Eagles get a cool day Saturday their chances of upset—and that's what victory will be—will increase immeasurably.

Physically the local aggregation is in pretty fine shape. Every Eagle is ready to face the Green Wave.

WILLIAMS MAY SURPRISE

Dave White, second string guard, injured a week ago in scrimmage, Fred Naumetz, third string but powerful pivot man who was injured in the Centre game and Teddy Williams, out of last Saturday's clash after having only recently recovered from a severe attack of the gripe won't be in top physical condition but can be used if needed against Tulane.

Williams, a junior from Gloucester, might easily steal the show in the Sugar Bowl. Teddy has never participated in an officially scheduled game for Boston College. The Centre game was to be his first, but a gripe floored him. If he's back in good health by Saturday he's very liable to see a lot of action. He and Maznicki will be the only active right halfbacks with the squad. In good health Williams could make his first game start a star studded effort.

Connie Mack Asks Waivers on McCoy

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25 (AP) The record says it has learned from "an authoritative source" that the Athletics asked waivers on Benny McCoy, $65,000 second baseman, 10 days ago.

McCoy was signed early this year as a free agent. Manager Connie Mack paid him a bonus of $45,000 to sign and in addition gave him a two-year contract at $10,000 annually. He has been erratic both in the field and at bat this season.

Page, Harvard's Center, Lost to Team for Season

Harvard's football hopes received a severe shock when it was learned that Center Johnny Page would be lost to the team for the remainder of the season as a result of a fractured vertebrae received in a recent scrimmage.

Page is in the hospital, and is expected to recover. The doctors say that he is out of danger.

Page was the first string center on the fresh team last fall and despite his 170 pounds, Dick Harlow was counting on Page to see considerable service this fall.

At the time of his injury Page was in the thick of the fight for a first team berth.

Page was an excellent passer and a fine diagnoser of plays. Needless to say Harvard's football hopes have sunk in the last 24 hours.

Burgie Ayres, who had been shifted to tackle as a result of Page's outstanding work, had been sent back to the pivot position again. Ayres place at tackle will be a fight among Tom Gardiner, Tom O'Loughlin, and Don Lowry.

TWO EXCUSED

Dick Harlow sent his squad through an intensive dummy scrimmage in an effort to get some precision and timing into the team's offensive. Charley Spreyer and Dick Pfister were excused from practice. George Heiden, who received a head injury last week, will not be able to get back into the lineup till next week.

Yankees' New Surge Keeps Up Flag Hopes

The "long count" given Gene Tunney one famous night in Chicago has nothing on the long count the New York Yankees are getting these days.

Ever since July 4, the baseball experts have been counting over the four-times world champions. Some days they count them out and some days they count them in.

These are one of the days for counting them in, because they have won six successive contests and the American League struggle is so tight that it would be possible by Sunday night for Detroit and Cleveland to be tied again and the Yankees be in third place only one game behind.

ANYTHING POSSIBLE

The Yankees whipped the Washington Senators twice yesterday, 6-5 and 9-4, while the Indians dropped a 7-2 decision to the St. Louis Browns and Detroit was kept idle because of rain.

The Tigers must play a double-header with the Chicago White Sox today while their rivals play single games, thus giving all sorts of situations possible. Chicago has downed Detroit in 13 out of 20 games previously this year.

The Yankees' chances for another championship still are remote, because they would have to win all their remaining games and Detroit would have to lose two in order to get as far as a tie. Yet the Yanks miss their true believers feel they have a chance because the just won't quit fighting.

ADDER NERDS INDIANS

Dutch Leonard and the Senators but their advantage in the first game yesterday, two runs behind in the ninth inning, but they tied the score with two singles, a double and a walk, and in the tenth inning they pumpeared over the Indians, run on a walk, Joe Gordon's double, and Red Killebrew's single.

They scored five times in the third inning of the nightcap, three of them on a homer by Babe Dahlgren, and won with the six-run lead.

GAMES TO PLAY:

hit hurling of Elden Auker and would have been shutout except for a couple of errors by shortstop Johnny Hierardino of the Browns. St. Louis ranked three Cleveland batters for 14 hits.

The only game in the National League that escaped the rain was at Brooklyn, where the Dodgers scored out the New York Giants 5-0 to clinch second place in the National League. Brooklyn lumped five runs into the fifth inning and withstood a four-run rebuff in the eighth.

Sox Still Hope For Money Spot

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—Having climbed a game nearer fourth place by defeating the A's in both ends of a twin bill while the White Sox were rained out, the Red Sox today saw a chance to further reduce the deficit as they went forth to battle the A's in another double header today.

The Sox won the Tuesday bargain bill, 16-8, behind Joe Eving, and 4-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Jack Wilson. Today Joe Cronin planned to shoot two sides at day A's, Bill Fleming and Woodrow Wilson Rich.

GAME NEARER WHITE SOX
Fleming hadn't had any luck since joining the club, though he has pitched some good games, his record read 6-3, while Rich a year ago was hailed as the pitching find of the century during the early spring.

The Sox were a game nearer the White Sox today mainly because they had their batting tons. Joe Cronin and Jimmy Fox returned to the lineup after several days rest, and were prominent factors in the 23-hit attack on the A's in the opener. Fox got the 500th home run of his career during the process while Cronin got two round-trippers.

TABOR HITTING BETTER
Other four-baggers were contributed by Ted Williams (2) and Jim Tabor, who has been hitting better since his appendicitis operation than he ever did before. Tabor got two hits in each game, and it looks now as if he will finish the season in the 300 class after all.

Bobby Doerr was the batting hero of the second game, knocking in the tying and winning runs with a double. He got five hits for the day in all.

After today's twin bill, the Sox will return to Boston where they end the season with the Senators and A's.

$65,000 M'Coy Fails to Bring Waiver Bid

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25 (AP).—The Record today said the Philadelphia Athletics had asked waivers 10 days ago on Benny McCoy, second baseman who cost Connie Mack $65,000 last spring.

The newspaper said that none of the other major league clubs put in a bid at the $25,000 waiver because "they did not consider the blood-yronger worth the $10,000 Mack is paying for him for this season and 1941."

The Athletics paid McCoy a $45,000 bonus to sign a two-year contract at $10,000 a year after the second season was declared a free agent by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in his order disbarring the Detroit farm system.

In 129 games, McCoy got 123 hits in 474 times at bat and drove in 62 runs for a hitting average of .259.

The record added: "The feeling on McCoy through the waiver route is believed to be Mack's first step toward rebuilding the A's for 1941. With the exception of Dick Siebert on first base and possibly Al Killebrew at third, it is a known fact that he is dissatisfied with the performance of his infield."

Challedon's Next Start at Maryland

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (INS).—W. L. Brann's Challedon will start either in the $20,000 debut New York Hardicap or the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park, it was announced today by G. D. Camelton, trainer.

Challedon's next start probably will be in Maryland, according to Camelton.

B'S END HOME SEASON AGAINST PHILS TODAY

By BILL GRIMES

"Well, weather permitting, we'll wind up our home season this afternoon," commented Manager Casey Stengel this morning at National League Field.

"And, although it's been a tough grind, I'm really sorry that this is the finale."

Rogers Peet

The Bees and the Phillies are scheduled to play a single game this afternoon. Because of the American Legion show, which will be held at National League Field this evening, the game will start at 6 p. m. and both clubs will leave for New York at 6 p. m.

"As far as their position in final standing is concerned, the Bees didn't better the mark of the club of the previous year," continued Casey Stengel. "We are again down in seventh place. But, despite the fact that they didn't start to click until about the halfway mark, the Bees will win more games than a year ago."

FUN SEEING KIDS DEVELOP

"As a whole, I've really enjoyed the last two months of this season. Of course, there were afternoons when I did plenty of fuming on various benches. But I'm very well satisfied, because my kids will give a better account of themselves than did the veterans I had last season."

"Until late this season, I was not sure that the greatest lack I'd ever get out of baseball was when my Dodgers knocked the Giants out of the pennant race, after my good friend Bill Terry had asked, 'Is Brooklyn still in the league?'"

"I was wrong. The greatest thrill I've ever received was this season, while watching these kids develop into major leaguers."

"Serious, fans and even the other National and American League managers gave Bob Quinn and me a fine going over, when we made the announcement that we were going to clean house of veterans, and go along with youngsters."

FANS' KNOCK TRADES

"After we made our really momentous decision, we were all aware that an avalanche of criticism was in the offing. And, we were right. It came; and in copious chunks."

"It claimed that we were operating on a shoestring and that we'd dispensed of our only worthwhile players when Al Lopez and Tony Cuccinello were traded."

"Now, the truth of the matter is that neither Bob Quinn nor myself wanted to trade Lopez or Cuccinello. But, we had decided to create a young club and Al and Tony, both of whom had passed their 30th milestone, didn't fit into our scheme."

"Prior to his completing the deals for Lopez and Cuccinello, Bob Quinn had time and again refused offers for these players from the Pirates and the Giants."

"When the deals were consummated, we received cash from both the New York and Pittsburgh clubs (and I don't mean money) and three players, Ray Berres, a first baseman, Manny Salvo, who has won 10 games and Al Glenzow, a valuable utility man."

BABY BEES CAN'T WIN

"Now, let me say something in behalf of these young Bees. We played out the 1940 string with three rookies, Stahl, Kowal and Ross, in the regular lineup. Nippy Stahl and Ema Howe, neither of whom had played in higher than Class A league, were in regular third and second base, respectively."

"Sure, they made mistakes but they gave us the old college try, for both were anxious to improve themselves. In my opinion, they can't miss."

Huskies' Sophs Fill
3 Backfield Posts

Northeastern's starting backfield against the University of Vermont, at Burlington on Saturday, may include three sophomores, because the second year men have been showing up better than the more seasoned openers.

Lone veteran, hold-out will be Phil Sheridan of Malden at blocking back. The former tackle looked fairly good against Rhode Island State and probably will retain his starting post.

Frankie Murray of Winchester appears ready to step into the wingback position, from which he will call the signals, while Ed Sakovitz of Framingham and Jim Shea of Brighton are running in front for the other berth.

If these three sophomores get into the backfield, seven of the starting line-up will be second year men, since Ed Macfarland is a starting possibility at end. Other sophomores will be Dick Grey at center, Len Eriksson at guard, and Jim Reilly at end.

Albany Driver Seeks
Second Win at Keene

KEENE, N. H., Sept. 24—Fred Carpenter, noted dirt track driver from Albany, N. Y., will be seeking his second straight victory in the big car races at Safford Park here Sunday.

How to pay the new liquor tax and save it, too!

GOOD WHISKEY CERTAINLY COSTS A FORTUNE, MR. MATTINGLY, NOW THAT TAXES AND PRICES ARE UP SO HIGH.

FIDDLESTICKS, MR. MOORE — OUR M & M IS AN ELEGANT WHISKEY. BUT EVEN ITS NEW PRICE IS LESS THAN FOLKS USED TO PAY FOR MANY OTHER POPULAR BRANDS.

CHANGE TO M & M SUH. YOU'LL PAY LESS AND LIKE IT BETTER!

THE NEW liquor tax, levied for national defense, is a good tax. Pay it gladly. But don't let your whiskey budget out a nock—it's unnecessary. Simply switch to M & M—the mild, pleasant whiskey that costs you less, saves you the tax while you pay it. Today's M & M is, in fact, milder and better-tasting than ever before—latin-smooth. Try it.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO.

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games, to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter this contest, excepting members of the Record-American, and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here, which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space against the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie, place an (T) in the space.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predicted a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average scores in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces, or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams, and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

You may enter as many sets of selections as you like. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American, not later than midnight, Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record-American to enter this contest. Tracings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library, or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable, and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. When average score tabulations must nearly match the actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of selections is entered, $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct, and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average score will receive the prize. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct selections, and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, the tying contestants submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $10.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain, in succession, the next largest number of correct selections, and whose average scores most nearly match the actual average scores of the games.

Winners of each week contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decisions of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all selections to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1987, Boston, Mass.

In the event of postponement of any of the games, each game will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

ODDS DROP AS YANKS SURGE

Out of the question box: Is it news that Gene Tunney offered $15,000 for a piece of Pat Comiskey a couple of months back? ... And Bill Daley wouldn't sell, according to the Associated Press. ... Are you surprised to hear your Yankees, who were laid to rest with full ceremonies only two days ago, are now only 4 to 1 to cup from both the Tigers and the cyp babies? ...

What's this about old Harry Stuhldreher having his troubles already at Wisconsin, early as it is? ... What with Don Kolbuz dropping football for the year and Hal Rooney still nursing that bad knee, CAULIFLOWER REPORT

Odds on the Pat Comiskey, Max Baer party tomorrow have been scrambled like an egg. ... The Irishman now is 5 to 7 favorite ... which is making Max giggle plenty ... and Anell Hoffman, who is as careless with his coconuts as he is with his right arm, has just bet 10 G's on his Max to put the crusher on Pat ...

If the Reds hit the 100-mark in the games-over column (they're 86 now) they'll be the first to ring the bell in the National League since the Cubs went into triple figures with their hair-raising 21-game string in '35 ...

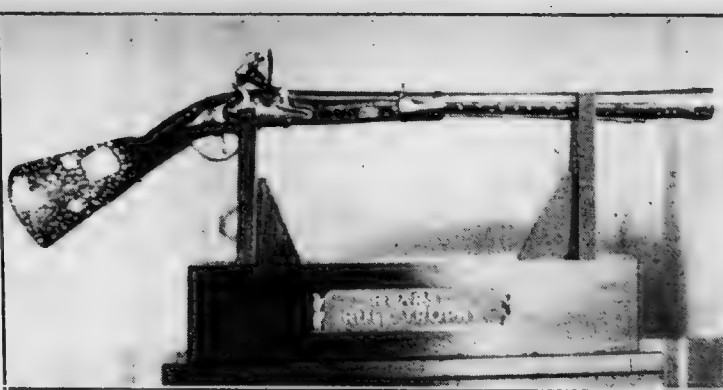

With Challenor out of the New York handicap at Belmont Oct. 5, Alf Vanderbilt'll have to hustle plenty to find something to eat on the race up ... No. 52 in the 938 Clomson squad, Gene Plathman, is still No. 52—but he's sporting it at Navy, where he's rated a Grade-A line prospect, all 250 pounds of him.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Billy Stepp, Yorkton Oregonian: "Bill Terry has a complex against Lefty O'Doul-developed ball players, regardless of what his scouts say. In the past, Lefty offered Terry such players as Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio, but the Giant's weren't interested. Now Lefty wants Bill to buy Ted Jennings and Helme Groh, who scouts for the Giants, has seconded it. Wonder if Terry'll forget his personal feelings on this one?" ... (Ed. Note: Brother, a Terry never forgets—and Brooklyn won't let him, anyway.)

JUST FOR THE RECORDS

S'pose you've noticed by now that the National League's four first division managers—Deacon McKechnie, Lippy Durocher, Billy Southworth and Frankie Frisch—all learned lots of their baseball wearing Cardinals' uniforms ... must be the air out there in St. Lou.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST trophy contributed to National Rifle and Pistol matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. A flintlock carbine, Spanish XVII Century. Fusil-a-silex. Barrel flaring in blunderbuss style. Stock of walnut, with ivory and mother-of-pearl inlaying, showing curious floral and vine details. Lock with chasing.

Lou Salica Regains Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (INS)—Lou Salica today enjoys that thrill which comes with a second coronation as the bantamweight champion of all the world.

Lou regained the title lost to Sixto Escobar when he received a split vote decision over George Pace of Cleveland at the end of fifteen rounds of stiff fighting in the Bronx Coliseum, a fray which didn't get hot until the first five rounds had been used up in a cautious appraisal of each other.

Eddie Josephs, the referee, and Bill McPartland, a judge gave Salica nine rounds and six for Pace. George Healy scored seven for Pace, six for Salica and two even.

Salica, to become the new champion had to smash through Pace's bewildering defense, to take the play away from the N. H. A. champion. Salica, recognized by the New York Commission as the No. 1 bantam of the country now, must face Sixto Escobar who remained unbeaten as the champion until he vacated the title.

Catches Rabbit

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 25 (AP)—Rutgers football coach, Harve Harman, expects anything to happen now that he has a 195-pound guard fast enough to catch a rabbit.

Husky Bill Schmitt cupled a wild rabbit scampering down the practice field, darted out of the lineup and after a 75-yard chase, leaped on the bunny.

IL SERIES MOVES TO BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, all square with the Newark Bears after the first two games of the International League final playoff, come to town with a chance to wind up the series on their home ground.

The Orioles very much have to give the Bears the same kind of reaction they showed in their previous winning. Rochester had wings in the first round of D. Governors Cup series and Newark is better equipped to match Baltimore at its own game—slugging.

FENCE HAUNTS TITICHERS

To win the cup and the major share of the big left purse, to qualify for the little world series, the fourth-place Orioles would have to win three straight games here. They did it against Rochester by pounding the ball over the short fence here, which long have been a menace to pitchers, after the wings had won the first two playoff games.

The Orioles spurt continued through the first game of the final round, but last night Newark squared accounts by doing some slugging on its own account behind the sixth hit hurling of George Washburn and won 4-3 in ten innings.

METHYEN HITS HOMER

Olin Collier, Tommy Hughes and Hilo Chelini worked for Baltimore and gave up nine hits, including a homer by Lou Metheny for the first Newark hit.

Metheny also smacked a single and double and drove in the winning run in the tenth. Alex Kampouris started the winning rally with a fluke double off Starter Newsome's leg. The Orioles shortly muffed Ed Levy's grounder, letting Kampouris take third, and Metheny followed with the game-winning single to right.

ORIOLES USE STROMME

Washburn fanned seven and walked two in gaining his second victory and his 20th of the year. Jack Redmond nicked him for two hits and converted both into runs with the help of sacrifices by Collier and hits by Gene Corbett and Eddie Collins, Jr.

Tonight the Orioles will send Floyd Strome, who had a four-hit game in his first playoff game and won on six hits in the second, against Newark's Hank Gowdy. The former Redman speedballer stopped Jersey City with three hits in his first playoff appearance.

Bomb Havoc—Some of the damage caused in London's West End after last week's Nazi raids is this blown out.

Target

This gaping hole in the roadway of London's famous Strand was one of the things Nazi raiders left behind to remember them by during the great raids of September 15. Germans remember the date, too, for they lost 187 planes.

Moving

Working hurriedly, British men, women and children tussle with time . . . trying to remove their belongings from a district in London where a delayed action bomb has been dropped. Scenes like this are common in the bomb shattered city.

Picturesque Pageantry Marks American Legion's Parade

Here's Why—It's no wonder the men folks go fishing in Wisconsin. With girls like this out with rod and reel, lakes and streams take on added oomph—and Wisconsin Legionnaires brought the girl angler along to the Legion Convention parade just to prove their tall stories of their home state's attractions.
